Nuclear, Air Power Overemphasized: Ridgway

Retired Chief Says Troops Necessary in Military Plans

New York, July 15 (AP)—The New York Times said today that Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway "seriously questioned" the soundness of U. S. military policy just before he retired as army chief of staff on June 20.

Ridgway "raised grave issues in an exhaustive appraisal of Soviet and United States capabilities" in a farewell letter to Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson, a Washington dispatch to the times added.

"Gen. Ridgway assailed the 'overemphasis on airpower and massive retaliation with nuclear weapons at the expense of greatly reduced ground forces while Soviet Russia was straining to build up all elements of her military power.

"He asserted that the existence of greatly superior United States air-atomic power in the post-war era had failed to prevent Communist aggressions."

RIDGWAY was quoted as writing to Wilson: "It is my view that the commitments which the United States has pledged create a positive requirement for an immediately available joint military force of hard-hitting character in which the versatilty of the whole is emphasized and the preponderance of any one part is de-emphasized."

The letter to Wilson was in addition to a routine final report which Ridgway made to the outgoing Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens.

Ridgway has opposed the Eisenhower administration's reduction of army strength. President Eisenhower, who did not reappoint Ridgway for a second term as army chief of staff, said his views on manpower were "parochial" or limited in view.

Ridgway in public speeches has warned against too heavy reliance on nuclear weapons and has said he believes the atomic age

Cool Pilot Saves 87 From Sea

Flies 4 Hours Minus 2 Engines

Hamilton Air Force Base, Calif., July 15 (AP)—For four tense, long hours last night Capt. Theodore Roosevelt held his mind and nerves ready to ditch a Globemaster and 87 men in the fog-covered Pacific.

But the ordeal ended in a safe landing here with the big military transport's two starboard engines dead. Two right hand tires blew out in the landing but Ohio, held the plane straight on the runway.

When it was all over, Roosevelt, a seventh cousin of both Teddy and Franklin D. Roosevelt, quietly told reporters:

"EVERYBODY was extremely calm.

"I was pretty sure we'd have to ditch. Those paratroopers felt, I guess, they could cope with whatever came up."

The Globemaster carried 79 men of the 187th regimental combat team (airborne) and its crew of eight. It was on a Hickam Field, Hawaii, to California flight in the Operation Gyroscope transfer of the 187th from Japan to Fort Bragg, N. C.

"We were about 10 minutes past the point of equal time (air force language meaning the midway point of no return) when the first engine went," said Lt. Richard E. Davidson, Alliance, Ohio, assistant navigator.

AN HOUR later the second starboard engine failed. Roosevelt and 2nd Lt. Harry Simpson, Akron, Ohio, co-pilot, were able to feather both propellors. The dead engines did not drag or vibrate.

But for four hours Roosevelt and his flight engineer, M/Sgt. Herman Dupuis, Helena, Mont., had to drive the two port engines at nearly maximum power.

Dupuis, who made a wartime ditching in a navy Martin Mariner, said another engine might have gone at any moment under the strain. He said he sweated every minute with the ignition system. He prayed it wouldn't fail.

'I DITCHED once before, back in 1944, and I didn't want to do it again," he related. "I've read that book, 'The High and the Mighty.' Now I can write my own."

Sgt. Arthur C. Crawford, Lagro, Ind., a 187th man on his way to see his wife and three children at Fort Bragg, said feathering the first engine didn't bother much.

But when the second stopped.. "That's when we really got scared. All the time, though, I was just sure I was going to see my wife and kids, all right, even if I had to get a little wet."

IN THE CREW cabin, Dupuis said, there wasn't much talk about ditching, after the crew and passengers were readied for one.

"We kept talking about how much gas was left. And there

DULLES IN PARIS—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is interviewed by newsman, with microphone, at the French Foreign Ministry in Paris, July 14, after Dulles' arrival by plane. At right is French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay. Others are not identified. Dulles spent three hours with U. S. experts going over proposals the Americans, British and French will put to the Russians when they meet "at the summit" in Geneva, Switzerland, next week. (AP Wirephoto via radio from Paris).

Subjects Disclosure Not Made

Pinay Optimistic Of Parley Future

Paris, July 15 (AP)—The western Big Three foreign ministers agreed quickly today on their position and strategy for the historic Geneva meeting with Russia's top political and military leaders.

In slightly less than three hours, U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay endorsed a detailed draft of western conference plans. These include a definite list of topics the west will raise and the stand it will take on each issue.

THE LIST WAS submitted to the ministers by diplomatic experts from each delegation yesterday.

An American source said later the ministers had made some changes in the experts' draft but called the alterations minor.

The ministers convened in the French Foreign Ministry from about 10:40 a. m. until almost 1 p. m., when Pinay told correspondents their work was completed.

PINAY DID NOT disclose what subjects the West intends to bring up at Geneva but they were almost certain to include German reunification, European security, disarmament and French Premier Edgar Faure's new disarm-and-develop scheme to help backward areas.

Pinay said he and the two other ministers had discussed Faure's plan and added, "we've all had that general idea for some time." He cited a statement of President Eisenhower along the same general lines.

The documents approved today will be submitted to the western chiefs of government in Geneva Sunday morning, Pinay said.

EISENHOWER, Faure and British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden will meet there with their foreign ministers as a curtain raiser to the sessions with the Kremlin's bosses on Monday.

Pinay radiated optimism to newsmen.

Senate Approves 2,900,000-Man Reserve

Minor Differences Remain Before Final Passage of Bill

Washington, July 15 (AP)—Some legislative horse trading between the Senate and House was the only barrier today to passage in some form of President Eisenhower's ambitious national reserve plan.

By a decisive 80-1 vote the Senate last night approved its own version of the plan to train a combat-ready reserve of 2,900,000 in the next four years, a four-fold increase.

THERE ARE SOME major differences between the Senate and House versions of the bill, and neither would give Eisenhower all he asked. A Senate-House conference committee will determine the bill's final form.

Sen. Russell (D.-Ga.), who piloted the measure through the Senate, said in an interview:

"There are a lot of differences between the Senate and House but I think we'll be able to get a bill."

SERVING WITH Russell in the conference to adjust these disputes will be Sens. Byrd (D.-Va.), Stennis (D.-Miss.), Saltonstall (R.-Mass.) and Bridges (R.-N.H.). House conferees will be designated later.

Secretary of Defense Wilson, at Quantico, Va., for a departmental meeting, told a news conference it was a "pretty good assumption" that unless a satis-

Developers Plan Homes In Tillson

The Carnoy American Building Corporation of White Plains, one of the leading housing developers throughout New York state, is planning a new project in Ulster county in the village of Tillson, town of Rosendale.

Alan L. Carnoy, president of the company, has already begun building operations on the Tillson property and plans to have several model homes ready for inspection by early September. He offers varied models at different prices with all F.H.A. and V.A. approved benefits. The company specializes in beautifully designed developments, planned for the discriminating home owner who enjoys the most modern type of home in well chosen settings at the lowest possible cost. Having had 12 years experience in all phases of housing development, the venture begun by Mr. Carnoy will satisfy a growing need for adequate homes for this area.

Four Injured As Car Hits Hurley Tree

Four persons were injured Thursday about 6:45 p. m., at Hurley when a 1955 car struck a patch of gravel alongside the road and went out of control, striking a tree.

Taken to the Benedictine Hospital were Samuel Schoenberg, 57, a high school administrator from 1420 Grand Concourse, New York, driver of the car; Selma Schoenberg, 56, of the same address; Edward Sagendorf, 80, of Lake Katrine and Daisy Sagendorf, 67, of Lake Katrine, passengers in the car. Order Is Given On Sprinkling

Because the present heat wave has placed such a heavy drain on the city water supply, the Kingston Water Board has announced resumption of the staggered sprinkling system, effective today.

It was reported that consumption of water has risen from five million gallons to seven million, due to excessive sprinkling. Some consumers are sprinkling 24 hours a day, the board said.

Although the water system is designed to furnish water for normal domestic demands, continuous sprinkling reduces pressure so necessary in emergencies like fires.

The water board's schedule for sprinkling follows:

Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays for homes with even numbers on streets.

Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays for residences on odd street numbers.

Hours are from 8 a. m. to 10 a. m. and 8 p. m. to 10 p. m.

Everybody is asked to cooperate to cut down fire hazards.

Democrats Confident of Tax Plan for Roads

Hikes Tentatively Agreed To Raise $11,800,000,000

Washington, July 15 (AP)—House Democrats drove with new confidence today for final public works committee approval of billions in new taxes to help pay for a giant new road construction program.

The committee late yesterday tentatively approved tax hikes on gasoline, trucks and buses, diesel fuel, heavy tires and tubes and all tire retreads, to raise about $11,800,000,000 over the next 14 years.

IT DEFEATED, by lopsided votes, a series of efforts to kill or sharply reduce the proposed revenue increases. It didn't complete action on the tax plan, however, and more such moves were expected today (10 a. m. EST).

Rp. Burnside (D.-W.Va.), who put through an amendment to exempt non-users of highways from the tax increases, said he thought this would remove much of the opposition to them.

Rep. Steed (D.-Okla.), another committee member, said he regarded chances for approval of the tax plan as now better than 2-1.

THE CONSTRUCTION program calls for 37 billions in federal spending and 15½ billions from the states over a 12-year period. The federal government would put up 24 billions, and the states 2½ billions, to complete 40,000 miles of defense superhighways.

In addition, the program calls for a 25-million-dollar increase each year for 15 years in both federal and state funds for primary, secondary and urban roads. About 1½ billion is spent annually for this program now, on a 50-50 matching basis.

President Eisenhower proposed financing the construction effort, biggest in history, through 30-year bonds to be sold by a special new government corporation. The Senate voted 60-31 against the bond plan and the House committee defeated it, 19-14.

DEMOCRATS ARE pushing the tax increases as a substitute, contending the only sound procedure is to pay for the roads as they are built.

Burnside's amendment would provide that the tax increases not apply to vehicle fuel or tires not used on the highways. This would benefit farmers, miners,

Driver Held After Mishap Early Today

Three persons were injured and a driver was arrested as the result of a two-car collision at Delaware avenue and Murray street early today.

A police report at 12:15 a. m., said a car owned by Carmella Esposito, 17 Crane street, and driven by Edward Esposito, 34 of the same address, was headed north on Delaware avenue, and a car, owned and driven by Edward D. VanBuren, 22, of 105 Cedar street, was going south on the street.

INJURED were Edward Esposito, who reported injuries of the left arm and ankle and forehead; Edward VanBuren, laceration of the forehead and injured left knee and Marjorie Boyce, of 582 Broadway, injured chin, nose and right arm. The latter was riding in the VanBuren car, the report said.

Esposito was to be treated by a doctor, Majorie Boyce and VanBuren were treated at Kingston Hospital. Both cars were towed from the scene.

VAN BUREN was arrested by Esposito on a charge of reckless driving. He was represented later before City Judge Raymond J. Mino by Attorney S. James Matthews, pleaded innocent, and the case was put over to July 19. Attorney Hubert A. Richter was in court in behalf of Esposito. John E. Gotelli, this month,

Electrical Bids, Ferry On Agenda

The New York State Bridge Authority was expected to consider advertising for bids on electrical work on the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge at a meeting this afternoon in its Ferry street office.

Possible discontinuance of the Newburgh-Beacon ferry was another subject slated for discussion at the session.

A SPOKESMAN for the authority said today that plans had been received recently from the office of Dr. D. B. Steinman, designer of the bridge, on the electrical work for the structure.

It was tentatively planned to advertise for the bids next week and receive bids in August.

The Newburgh News, this week, said that Robert Hoe, chairman of the authority, said he would bring before its members at today's meeting, the problem of possible discontinuance of the Newburgh-Beacon ferry "because of serious financial difficulties."

THE NEWSPAPER quoted Hoe as saying that he planned to get the opinions of the other authority members "on how such action would affect travel service between Newburgh and Beacon, and also its effect on proposed plans for a new bridge across the Hudson joining the two cities."

It was indicated that in the

Woman Nominated for Alderman

Democratic Caucuses Reported in 10 Wards

For the first time in the memory of local political historians, a woman was nominated as a candidate for an aldermanic post in the city when the name of Mrs. Florence M. Crosby, president of the Ulster County Democratic Women's Club was placed in nomination at a Democratic caucus in the Second ward last night. Harry Flowers was nominated for supervisor in that ward.

While the records at the Board of Elections indicated that the names of distaff candidates had been nominated in past years in supervisor races, a spokesman at the board office said today that to the best of his memory a woman's name had never been placed in nomination for an aldermanic office.

Although no report of candidates was forthcoming from the First ward, and a check to ascertain if a caucus were held in that ward was unavailing, results of the caucuses indicated there were no contests in any of the wards and all incumbent Democratic aldermen and supervisors were renominated.

Because Democratic committeemen in the 11th and 13th wards were out of town on vacation no caucus was held. The caucus for the 11th ward is scheduled July 18, while the 13th ward caucus will be held July 19.

Democrats in the Fifth ward placed no name in nomination for alderman, endorsing instead Republican Alderman Samuel J. Perry for re-election. Democrat James Fiore was renominated for supervisor in that ward.

Delegates were also named at last night's caucuses to the Democratic conventions to be held at the court house on Wednesday, July 20, at 8 p. m.

The county convention will be held first at which time the party designations for county offices will be made. The city convention will follow immediately at which time the Democratic party will name its choice for mayor and alderman-at-large.

Meanwhile, the name of William F. Edelmuth, who served three terms as mayor from 1942 to 1947 loomed brighter as the likely candidate for the mayoralty office. A spokesman for the city's Democratic officialdom

Check on Reds Runs Way Back

Washington, July 15 (AP)—Chairman Eastland (D-Miss.) said today the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee hopes to get leads on "Communist activity down to the present time" from its latest series of hearings.

The subcommittee recessed yesterday an inquiry in which more than a score of persons were named as having been Reds in the late 1930s. Most of them were in newspaper work at the time. A few who still are all swore they are not now Communists.

EASTLAND said the subcommittee has had "witnesses from most of the professions" in its sometimes turbulent history, he added in an interview:

"We've gotten more cooperation from newspapermen than any other group in the country."

He said of the subcommittee's latest inquiry that "the hearings have pointed out the way the Communist conspiracy was entrenched in this country, and we hope to get leads from these hearings that will show us Communist activity down to the present time."

Eastland said he has no immediate plans for calling additional witnesses. He didn't shut the door on a later resumption of the inquiry.

Ira Henry Freeman, a veteran New York Times reporter, told the subcommittee yesterday he had been a member of the Communist party for about a year beginning early in 1938.

HE SAID he was talked into joining by Milton Kaufman, then executive secretary of the New York Newspaper Guild, and another person now dead who was not named publicly. The guild has contended it eliminated Communists from all positions of influence years ago.

Freeman testified he was never an enthusiastic party member and quit late in 1938 or early in 1939 after he found

Thruway Link With East Is To Be Started Next Spring

Albany, N. Y., July 15 (AP)—The State Thruway Authority says work is to be started next spring on the 24-mile Berkshire section linking the Thruway with the Massachusetts Turnpike.

The authority yesterday announced a preliminary route for the section, scheduled for completion by Jan. 1, 1958.

It will link the main Thruway route south of Albany and the Massachusetts Turnpike, now under construction, south of the border community of State Line, Mass.

The section will cross the Hudson river on a bridge to be built north of the New York Central railroad bridge near Castleton, a spokesman for the authority said.

The Department of the Army has been asked to approve the plans and location of the Hudson crossing.

The proposed route would:

Leave the New York-Buffalo Thruway at a point one and a third miles south of the Selkirk interchange, cross Route 144, parallel the New York Central railroad Castleton cutoff tracks

Sprague Closing Will Not Affect Saugerties Plant

The operation of the Ferroxcube Corporation plant in Saugerties will not be affected by the announced closing of Sprague Electric in Kingston, according to E. C. Craig, general manager of the Saugerties firm.

Although the Saugerties plant is a joint affiliate of Sprague and Phillips Industries of Holland, Ferroxcube is an independent corporation not related to the other industries, Mr. Craig said.

The Ferroxcube Corporation plant in Saugerties employs approximately 150 people and manufactures ferrites which are a component part of electronics system used in TV, radio and other electronic assemblies.

Mr. Craig said that the making of ferrites is a new development since World War 2 and it is also used largely in computing machines manufactured by IBM.

It was emphasized by Mr. Craig that Sprague has many branches which are operated only as long as the market and local conditions warrant and that it is not unusual to have two of these branch operations consolidated for economic reasons.

Ellenville Parade on Saturday

Long March Ends 150th Village Anniversary

Ellenville's Sesquicentennial celebration entered its fifth day today with a host of attractions, highlighted by a giant parade, remaining on the schedule which ends the historical observance Saturday night.

The parade is scheduled to step off from the Channel Master Corp. grounds at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, marching over the village's main streets and terminating at Kelly Field.

Seven bands, including the Port Ewen Drum Corps, and Clayton's Military Band, and 20 floats, will participate.

After the parade disbands, the Brothers of the Brush beard judging contest will be conducted at Kelly farm at 7 o'clock. Prizes for outstanding facial adornments will be awarded.

The final performances of EllenVillerama, the historical pageant, will be given tonight and Saturday at Kelly Farm at 8:30 o'clock. More than 1,200 attended last night's pageant, a committee spokesman said.

IT DEFEATED, by lopsided votes, a series of efforts to kill or sharply reduce the proposed revenue increases. It didn't complete action on the tax plan, however, and more such moves were expected today (10 a. m. EST).

Rp. Burnside (D.-W.Va.), who put through an amendment to exempt non-users of highways from the tax increases, said he thought this would remove much of the opposition to them.

Rep. Steed (D.-Okla.), another committee member, said he regarded chances for approval of the tax plan as now better than 2-1.

THE CONSTRUCTION program calls for 37 billions in federal spending and 15½ billions from the states over a 12-year period. The federal government would put up 24 billions, and the states 2½ billions, to complete 40,000 miles of defense superhighways.

In addition, the program calls for a 25-million-dollar increase each year for 15 years in both federal and state funds for primary, secondary and urban roads. About 1½ billion is spent annually for this program now, on a 50-50 matching basis.

President Eisenhower proposed financing the construction effort, biggest in history, through 30-year bonds to be sold by a special new government corporation. The Senate voted 60-31 against the bond plan and the House committee defeated it, 19-14.

DEMOCRATS ARE pushing the tax increases as a substitute, contending the only sound procedure is to pay for the roads as they are built.

Burnside's amendment would provide that the tax increases not apply to vehicle fuel or tires not used on the highways. This would benefit farmers, miners,

Driver Held After Mishap Early Today

Three persons were injured and a driver was arrested as the result of a two-car collision at Delaware avenue and Murray street early today.

A police report at 12:15 a. m., said a car owned by Carmella Esposito, 17 Crane street, and driven by Edward Esposito, 34 of the same address, was headed north on Delaware avenue, and a car, owned and driven by Edward D. VanBuren, 22, of 105 Cedar street, was going south on the street.

Electrical Bids, Ferry On Agenda

The New York State Bridge Authority was expected to consider advertising for bids on electrical work on the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge at a meeting this afternoon in its Ferry street office.

Possible discontinuance of the Newburgh-Beacon ferry was another subject slated for discussion at the session.

A SPOKESMAN for the authority said today that plans had been received recently from the office of Dr. D. B. Steinman, designer of the bridge, on the electrical work for the structure.

It was tentatively planned to advertise for the bids next week and receive bids in August.

The Newburgh News, this week, said that Robert Hoe, chairman of the authority, said he would bring before its members at today's meeting, the problem of possible discontinuance of the Newburgh-Beacon ferry "because of serious financial difficulties."

THE NEWSPAPER quoted Hoe as saying that he planned to get the opinions of the other authority members "on how such action would affect travel service between Newburgh and Beacon, and also its effect on proposed plans for a new bridge across the Hudson joining the two cities."

It was indicated that in the

Woman Nominated for Alderman

Democratic Caucuses Reported in 10 Wards

For the first time in the memory of local political historians, a woman was nominated as a candidate for an aldermanic post in the city when the name of Mrs. Florence M. Crosby, president of the Ulster County Democratic Women's Club was placed in nomination at a Democratic caucus in the Second ward last night. Harry Flowers was nominated for supervisor in that ward.

While the records at the Board of Elections indicated that the names of distaff candidates had been nominated in past years in supervisor races, a spokesman at the board office said today that to the best of his memory a woman's name had never been placed in nomination for an aldermanic office.

Although no report of candidates was forthcoming from the First ward, and a check to ascertain if a caucus were held in that ward was unavailing, results of the caucuses indicated there were no contests in any of the wards and all incumbent Democratic aldermen and supervisors were renominated.

Because Democratic committeemen in the 11th and 13th wards were out of town on vacation no caucus was held. The caucus for the 11th ward is scheduled July 18, while the 13th ward caucus will be held July 19.

Democrats in the Fifth ward placed no name in nomination for alderman, endorsing instead Republican Alderman Samuel J. Perry for re-election. Democrat James Fiore was renominated for supervisor in that ward.

Delegates were also named at last night's caucuses to the Democratic conventions to be held at the court house on Wednesday, July 20, at 8 p. m. The county convention will be held first at which time the party designations for county offices will be made. The city convention will follow immediately at which time the Democratic party will name its choice for mayor and alderman-at-large.

Meanwhile, the name of William F. Edelmuth, who served three terms as mayor from 1942 to 1947 loomed brighter as the likely candidate for the mayoralty office. A spokesman for the city's Democratic officialdom

Thruway Link With East Is To Be Started Next Spring

Albany, N. Y., July 15 (AP)—The State Thruway Authority says work is to be started next spring on the 24-mile Berkshire section linking the Thruway with the Massachusetts Turnpike.

The authority yesterday announced a preliminary route for the section, scheduled for completion by Jan. 1, 1958.

It will link the main Thruway route south of Albany and the Massachusetts Turnpike, now under construction, south of the border community of State Line, Mass.

The section will cross the Hudson river on a bridge to be built north of the New York Central railroad bridge near Castleton, a spokesman for the authority said.

The Department of the Army has been asked to approve the plans and location of the Hudson crossing.

The proposed route would:

Leave the New York-Buffalo Thruway at a point one and a third miles south of the Selkirk interchange, cross Route 144, parallel the New York Central railroad Castleton cutoff tracks

Check on Reds Runs Way Back

Washington, July 15 (AP)—Chairman Eastland (D-Miss.) said today the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee hopes to get leads on "Communist activity down to the present time" from its latest series of hearings.

The subcommittee recessed yesterday an inquiry in which more than a score of persons were named as having been Reds in the late 1930s. Most of them were in newspaper work at the time. A few who still are all swore they are not now Communists.

EASTLAND said the subcommittee has had "witnesses from most of the professions" in its sometimes turbulent history, he added in an interview:

"We've gotten more cooperation from newspapermen than any other group in the country."

He said of the subcommittee's latest inquiry that "the hearings have pointed out the way the Communist conspiracy was entrenched in this country, and we hope to get leads from these hearings that will show us Communist activity down to the present time."

Eastland said he has no immediate plans for calling additional witnesses. He didn't shut the door on a later resumption of the inquiry.

Ira Henry Freeman, a veteran New York Times reporter, told the subcommittee yesterday he had been a member of the Communist party for about a year beginning early in 1938.

HE SAID he was talked into joining by Milton Kaufman, then executive secretary of the New York Newspaper Guild, and another person now dead who was not named publicly. The guild has contended it eliminated Communists from all positions of influence years ago.

Freeman testified he was never an enthusiastic party member and quit late in 1938 or early in 1939 after he found

Sprague Closing Will Not Affect Saugerties Plant

The operation of the Ferroxcube Corporation plant in Saugerties will not be affected by the announced closing of Sprague Electric in Kingston, according to E. C. Craig, general manager of the Saugerties firm.

Although the Saugerties plant is a joint affiliate of Sprague and Phillips Industries of Holland, Ferroxcube is an independent corporation not related to the other industries, Mr. Craig said.

The Ferroxcube Corporation plant in Saugerties employs approximately 150 people and manufactures ferrites which are a component part of electronics system used in TV, radio and other electronic assemblies.

Mr. Craig said that the making of ferrites is a new development since World War 2 and it is also used largely in computing machines manufactured by IBM.

It was emphasized by Mr. Craig that Sprague has many branches which are operated only as long as the market and local conditions warrant and that it is not unusual to have two of these branch operations consolidated for economic reasons.

Club Is Raided

Montauk, N. Y., July 15 (AP)—State troopers early today raided what they termed a plush gambling club being operated in a lavishly decorated mansion at this summer community on the eastern tip of Long Island. However, officers said word of the impending raid apparently had leaked out and most of the club's gambling equipment had been removed. A dice game was the lone gambling operation in progress, and there were only a few customers on the premises, police said.

Ranch Employe Called Suicide

John F. Toohey, about 40, committed suicide by hanging sometime yesterday at Brunswick, town of Shawangunk, and his body was discovered at 7 a. m., today, state police of the Highland Station reported.

Toohey, employed as a maintenance man at Sunnycroft Ranch in Brunswick, had been missing since July 11, troopers said, and the body was discovered hanging from a tree by Eugene Corey on the Corey farm.

Troopers said evidence of a broken tree limb indicated that Toohey was unsuccessful in his first attempt to take his life.

Coroner Francis J. McCardle said death was due to a broken neck and issued a verdict of suicide by hanging.

The body was removed to McHugh's Funeral Home in Wallkill.

Sgt. Linn Baker and Trooper Michael Lisman of the Highland Station investigated.

Wallkill Valley Bus Service Is Cut by Thruway

A cut in bus service for Wallkill valley communities because of use of the New York State Thruway was noted this week.

A new bus schedule in the area "provides about half" of the former service, the Walden Herald noted yesterday.

The Adirondack Trailways line is affected "between the Walden area and New York city to the south, and to Kingston and Albany and other points to the north," the newspaper said.

Among other communities affected, it said, are Maybrook, Wallkill, New Hurley and Ireland Corners.

About a dozen runs daily both to and from New York served the area before the new schedule. These included a number of express runs. The new schedule, it said, lists five regular daily northbound runs from New York and five special runs for certain days. Southbound there are now five on regular schedule, and three on certain days.

Other Gas, Oil Wells Sought in Mountain Area

The Dome Gas and Oil Co., which sunk a well in search of natural gas on the Herdman farm, town of Shandaken, some time ago, is seeking other sites, it was learned today.

"A scintillator crew," said the Catskill Mountain News, in its issue of today, "is working in the townships of Hardenburgh, Shandaken (in Ulster county), Lexington and Hunter (Greene county), and Halcott (in Delaware couty)."

Work is being continued at the well in the town of Shandaken. A process now finished seeks to open pores in Oriskany sands so that the gas will flow freely, and materials pumped in for that purpose are now being bailed out, the newspaper said.

Ryan's Condition Reported Serious

Authorities at Kingston Hospital today described as "serious" the condition of Clarence Ryan, 365 Broadway, who with his wife, was injured in a two-car collision late Wednesday night on Route 9W, a half mile south of Saugerties. The hospital reported Mrs. Ryan in "fair" condition today.

Troopers at the Kingston station reported that Mr. Ryan, a local barber, suffered a fractured left knee and lacerations of the face and hands. Mrs. Ryan's injuries were not listed.

The Ryan car was in a head-on collision with a car operated by William E. Hollinger, 32, of Washington avenue, Saugerties, state police said. Hollinger was treated at Kingston Hospital after the accident for lacerations of the forehead, scalp and left eye and released.

Mrs. Ryan was proceeding south and Mr. Hollinger north at the time of the accident.

factory bill is passed, the size of the regular armed forces may have to be increased.

Both branches of Congress approved the chief new feature of allowing thousands of teenage youths to volunteer for brief active training with the regular forces to be followed by active reserve training for the remainder of an eight-year period. The Senate would permit volunteers 17-20 years old. The House voted to limit them to 19 years or older unless they had completed high school.

THE PRESIDENT and Pentagon had asked authority to induct draft-age men of 18½-26 for training if there are not enough volunteers but the House killed this as too near universal military training.

Biggest Senate-House difference is over a Defense Department request for authority to require regular service veterans, both former draftees and volunteers, to take active reserve training after completing regular service.

The Carnoy American Building Corporation is said to be one of the most experienced developers of housing in various types and price range and is now adding Ulster county to its widespread projects already progressing in Orange, Clinton and Westchester counties.

Forms Furnished For Information On Housing Needs

Blank forms distributed here this week, are intended to gain information on future local housing needs, and require no personal signature nor names of employers, an official of the local housing authority said today.

The New York State Division of Housing, distributor of the forms, will analyze and compile information when the forms are all returned and is expected to have a report by the end of August or early September.

Information compiled will assist in bringing the 1950 census up to date locally and will supply other essential information for use by housing officials.

will require more, not fewer, ground soldiers.

A DEFENSE Department spokesman, when asked about the Ridgway letter by newsmen last night, said it had been classified as "confidential."

The Times story said: "Neither Gen. Ridgway nor Secretary Wilson has taken any steps to release his final analysis, but the New York Times was given access to it by competent sources."

"A substantial part of the letter," the story said, "was devoted to an attack on political forces that had sought to embroil the chief of staff in public support of administration policy to which he previously had objected. This was his obvious answer to President Eisenhower's comment some months ago that Gen. Ridgway had only a 'parochial' view of national military requirements."

RIDGWAY, while challenging the soundness of a fundamental concept of reliance on air-nuclear power for coping with the risks of a general war, also declared the strength needed for the cold war was being neglected.

Ridgway wrote: "The present United States preoccupation with preparations for a cold war has limited the military means available for a cold war to those which are essentially by-products or leftovers from the means available for a general war."

Mayor Schedules Hearing on Pay Raises Tuesday

Mayor Frederick H. Stang will conduct a public hearing Tuesday at 10 a. m., in the Common Council chamber, city hall, on recent legislation authorizing pay raises for city officials and providing for new regulations governing installment payments of special assessments.

The council acted on the two measures last Tuesday night. The local law on pay raises provides for boosting the mayor's salary from $7,500 to $10,000, that of the alderman-at-large from $1,200 to $1,800, and raises the aldermen's salaries from $600 to $1,000 annually.

The other local law adjusts installment payments of special assessments so that they conform with those of the state. Formerly assessments of not more than $10,000 were to be paid in five installments, and those above $10,000 in not more than 10 installments. In conforming with state regulations the law will now consider "a period of probable usefulness" of all types of municipal improvements and fix installment payments accordingly.

Democratic

said last night "Edelmuth appears to be our strongest candidate and wants the nomination."

Several names have been mentioned as Democratic candidate for alderman-at-large, but it has not been learned which candidate will be a favorite of the delegates.

OTHER RESULTS of last night's caucuses showed Edwin Radel renominated for alderman in the Third ward with Christopher Perry as his running mate for supervisor.

Frank J. Zakseski was nominated in the Fourth ward for alderman, and Joseph J. Turck was renominated for supervisor.

Joseph Tomaseski was nominated for alderman in the Sixth ward, and nomination for supervisor was left open pending acceptance of the candidate who was out of town.

Thomas Coughlin, former alderman and once a candidate for alderman-at-large was nominated for supervisor in the Seventh ward, and Frank C. Sass was nominated for alderman.

The Eighth ward nominations placed the name of Francis G. Clark for supervisor while Arthur J. Smith, Sr., was renominated for alderman.

Incumbent candidate William Bodenweber received the nomination for alderman in the Ninth ward, and James Howard was renominated for supervisor.

James Ryan was renominated for alderman in the 10th ward and James J. Carroll was renominated for supervisor.

In the 12th ward, Francis J. Oulton, Jr., was named for alderman, and James P. Devine Jr., was nominated for supervisor.

Hikes . . .

loggers, airlines and others, by about 750 million dollars over the 14-year period the tax increases would be imposed.

THE SCHEDULE of increases approved yesterday, to take effect within a few weeks after the bill is enacted:

Gasoline, from 2 to 3 cents a gallon; diesel fuel, 2 to 5 cents a gallon; trucks and buses, 8 to 10 per cent; heavy tires, used by large trucks and buses, 5 to 15 cents a pound; heavy tubes, 9 to 15 cents a pound; camelback used for retreading all tires, from no tax now to 15 cents a pound.

A plan approved earlier by a public works subcommittee would have applied a 7½ cent tax on heavy retreaded tires. The committee altered this to levy 15 cents a pound on camelback only, on all types of tire retreads including passenger cars.

Storms Halt Heat

THE JETTISON operation ordered by Roosevelt took 7,000 pounds of load out of the plane.

Chest Announces

be a bee hive of activity," and it was reported that Mrs. Jeanne Snyder and members of the organization "have continued throughout to do an outstanding job."

The chest was started here "to consolidate the number of drives carried on each year in our area. This consolidation not only saves the public from repeated solicitations, but also allows professional staff members of the member agencies to devote full time to program work instead of having to organize fund drives."

A SINGLE, large campaign organization, it was also noted, "is able to reach more people, thus giving a larger number of citizens the opportunity to share in the work. Seven different fund-raising drives would have taken place in the community area this year, if there were no community chest.

Reports indicate that both workers and local residents are "highly in favor of this plan, and are firmly behind this community organization" and since it is "by, of and for the people of the Kingston area, it is hoped that the local residents will get behind the organization 100 per cent."

Club Is Raided

Montauk, N. Y., July 15 (AP)—State troopers early today raided what they termed a plush gambling club being operated in a lavishly decorated mansion at this summer community on the eastern tip of Long Island. However, officers said word of the impending raid apparently had leaked out and most of the club's gambling equipment had been removed. A dice game was the lone gambling operation in progress, and there were only a few customers on the premises, police said.

Toohey, employed as a maintenance man at Sunnycroft Ranch in Brunswick, had been missing since July 11, troopers said, and the body was discovered hanging from a tree by Eugene Corey on the Corey farm.

Troopers said evidence of a broken tree limb indicated that Toohey was unsuccessful in his first attempt to take his life.

Wallkill Valley Bus Service Is Cut by Thruway

A cut in bus service for Wallkill valley communities because of use of the New York State Thruway was noted this week.

A new bus schedule in the area "provides about half" of the former service, the Walden Herald noted yesterday.

The Adirondack Trailways line is affected "between the Walden area and New York city to the south, and to Kingston and Albany and other points to the north," the newspaper said.

Among other communities affected, it said, are Maybrook, Wallkill, New Hurley and Ireland Corners.

About a dozen runs daily both to and from New York served the area before the new schedule. These included a number of express runs. The new schedule, it said, lists five regular daily northbound runs from New York and five special runs for certain days. Southbound there are now five on regular schedule, and three on certain days.

Other Gas, Oil Wells Sought in Mountain Area

Work is being continued at the well in the town of Shandaken. A process now finished seeks to open pores in Oriskany sands so that the gas will flow freely, and materials pumped in for that purpose are now being bailed out, the newspaper said.

Troopers at the Kingston station reported that Mr. Ryan, a local barber, suffered a fractured left knee and lacerations of the face and hands. Mrs. Ryan's injuries were not listed.

The Ryan car was in a head-on collision with a car operated by William E. Hollinger, 32, of Washington avenue, Saugerties, state police said. Hollinger was treated at Kingston Hospital after the accident for lacerations of the forehead, scalp and left eye and released.

Mrs. Ryan was proceeding south and Mr. Hollinger north at the time of the accident.

Minor . . .

factory bill is passed, the size of the regular armed forces may have to be increased.

Both branches of Congress approved the chief new feature of allowing thousands of teenage youths to volunteer for brief active training with the regular forces to be followed by active reserve training for the remainder of an eight-year period. The Senate would permit volunteers 17-20 years old. The House voted to limit them to 19 years or older unless they had completed high school.

THE PRESIDENT and Pentagon had asked authority to induct draft-age men of 18½-26 for training if there are not enough volunteers but the House killed this as too near universal military training.

Biggest Senate-House difference is over a Defense Department request for authority to require regular service veterans, both former draftees and volunteers, to take active reserve training after completing regular service.

The Carnoy American Building Corporation is said to be one of the most experienced developers of housing in various types and price range and is now adding Ulster county to its widespread projects already progressing in Orange, Clinton and Westchester counties.

Forms Furnished For Information On Housing Needs

Blank forms distributed here this week, are intended to gain information on future local housing needs, and require no personal signature nor names of employers, an official of the local housing authority said today.

The New York State Division of Housing, distributor of the forms, will analyze and compile information when the forms are all returned and is expected to have a report by the end of August or early September.

Information compiled will assist in bringing the 1950 census up to date locally and will supply other essential information for use by housing officials.

The forms, after they are filled out, are to be forwarded to the Kingston Housing Authority, Colonial Gardens, or to the New York State Division of Housing, 270 Broadway, New York.

Pinay said the western chiefs of government and ministers will study—and presumably approve—the joint plans for the negotiations in a meeting together in Geneva Sunday morning.

President Eisenhower will meet with the British and French leaders separately Sunday afternoon. The President will meet with Eden and MacMillan at 3 p. m., then with Faure and Pinay at 5 p. m., in a final review for the roles all intend to play in the conference hall Monday morning.

BETWEEN THE morning session and the afternoon talks, the President will be host to Eden and Faure at lunch.

Following today's ministerial session, Pinay and MacMillan met at luncheon in the British embassy. Later in the day, Faure was to have all three ministers as his guests for tea.

Pinay was to meet with West Germany's Foreign Minister Heinrich Von Brentano at 5 p. m. to keep the West German leader abreast of western plans.

will require more, not fewer, ground soldiers.

A DEFENSE Department spokesman, when asked about the Ridgway letter by newsmen last night, said it had been classified as "confidential."

The Times story said: "Neither Gen. Ridgway nor Secretary Wilson has taken any steps to release his final analysis, but the New York Times was given access to it by competent sources."

"A substantial part of the letter," the story said, "was devoted to an attack on political forces that had sought to embroil the chief of staff in public support of administration policy to which he previously had objected. This was his obvious answer to President Eisenhower's comment some months ago that Gen. Ridgway had only a 'parochial' view of national military requirements."

RIDGWAY, while challenging the soundness of a fundamental concept of reliance on air-nuclear power for coping with the risks of a general war, also declared the strength needed for the cold war was being neglected.

Ridgway wrote: "The present United States preoccupation with preparations for a cold war has limited the military means available for a cold war to those which are essentially by-products or leftovers from the means available for a general war."

Moscow, July 15 (AP)—Premier Bulganin declared today the Soviet delegation is leaving for Geneva tomorrow to make "a sincere effort" to solve international problems. Mayor Schedules Hearing on Pay Raises Tuesday

Mayor Frederick H. Stang will conduct a public hearing Tuesday at 10 a. m., in the Common Council chamber, city hall, on recent legislation authorizing pay raises for city officials and providing for new regulations governing installment payments of special assessments.

The council acted on the two measures last Tuesday night. The local law on pay raises provides for boosting the mayor's salary from $7,500 to $10,000, that of the alderman-at-large from $1,200 to $1,800, and raises the aldermen's salaries from $600 to $1,000 annually.

The other local law adjusts installment payments of special assessments so that they conform with those of the state. Formerly assessments of not more than $10,000 were to be paid in five installments, and those above $10,000 in not more than 10 installments. In conforming with state regulations the law will now consider "a period of probable usefulness" of all types of municipal improvements and fix installment payments accordingly.

said last night "Edelmuth appears to be our strongest candidate and wants the nomination."

Several names have been mentioned as Democratic candidate for alderman-at-large, but it has not been learned which candidate will be a favorite of the delegates.

OTHER RESULTS of last night's caucuses showed Edwin Radel renominated for alderman in the Third ward with Christopher Perry as his running mate for supervisor.

Frank J. Zakseski was nominated in the Fourth ward for alderman, and Joseph J. Turck was renominated for supervisor.

Joseph Tomaseski was nominated for alderman in the Sixth ward, and nomination for supervisor was left open pending acceptance of the candidate who was out of town.

Thomas Coughlin, former alderman and once a candidate for alderman-at-large was nominated for supervisor in the Seventh ward, and Frank C. Sass was nominated for alderman.

The Eighth ward nominations placed the name of Francis G. Clark for supervisor while Arthur J. Smith, Sr., was renominated for alderman.

Incumbent candidate William Bodenweber received the nomination for alderman in the Ninth ward, and James Howard was renominated for supervisor.

James Ryan was renominated for alderman in the 10th ward and James J. Carroll was renominated for supervisor.

In the 12th ward, Francis J. Oulton, Jr., was named for alderman, and James P. Devine Jr., was nominated for supervisor.

loggers, airlines and others, by about 750 million dollars over the 14-year period the tax increases would be imposed.

THE SCHEDULE of increases approved yesterday, to take effect within a few weeks after the bill is enacted:

Gasoline, from 2 to 3 cents a gallon; diesel fuel, 2 to 5 cents a gallon; trucks and buses, 8 to 10 per cent; heavy tires, used by large trucks and buses, 5 to 15 cents a pound; heavy tubes, 9 to 15 cents a pound; camelback used for retreading all tires, from no tax now to 15 cents a pound.

A plan approved earlier by a public works subcommittee would have applied a 7½ cent tax on heavy retreaded tires. The committee altered this to levy 15 cents a pound on camelback only, on all types of tire retreads including passenger cars.

Storms Halt Heat

London, July 15 (AP)—Fierce thunderstorms broke an eight-day heat wave in parts of western Europe today but Scandinavia still sweltered under a broiling sun. The death toll from drownings, lightning and other causes was estimated at approximately 100. Lightning killed six persons in Britain yesterday and there was prospect of additional electrical storms today. But the general trend of temperatures was downward.

THE JETTISON operation ordered by Roosevelt took 7,000 pounds of load out of the plane.

Twelve planes, Grumman Albatross amphibians, escorted the crippled Globmaster for the last 300 miles. They were ready to attempt landings in the sea if the transport ditched. Another plane was ready to drop rafts.

be a bee hive of activity," and it was reported that Mrs. Jeanne Snyder and members of the organization "have continued throughout to do an outstanding job."

The chest was started here "to consolidate the number of drives carried on each year in our area. This consolidation not only saves the public from repeated solicitations, but also allows professional staff members of the member agencies to devote full time to program work instead of having to organize fund drives."

A SINGLE, large campaign organization, it was also noted, "is able to reach more people, thus giving a larger number of citizens the opportunity to share in the work. Seven different fund-raising drives would have taken place in the community area this year, if there were no community chest.

Reports indicate that both workers and local residents are "highly in favor of this plan, and are firmly behind this community organization" and since it is "by, of and for the people of the Kingston area, it is hoped that the local residents will get behind the organization 100 per cent."

Communist meetings "inept and futile . . . dull and fruitless."

Another New York Times reporter, Charles Grutzner, acknowledged at an earlier hearing that he had become a Communist in 1937 but had quit it in disillusionment in 1940 before joining the Times' staff.

Melvin Barnet was fired as a copy reader for the Times after he refused to tell the subcommittee two days ago whether he ever had been a Communist. Barnet testified he is not now a Communist, but he declined under his Fifth Amendment protection against possible self-incrimination to say whether he had been a Communist prior to 1942.

SIMILARLY, the New York Daily News said yesterday it has fired David Gordon, a reporter who testified on Wednesday he is not now a Communist but cited the Fifth Amendment in declining to say whether he had been one in the 1930s.

Richard W. Clarke, executive editor of the News, made public in New York this letter to Gordon:

"Your conduct as a witness before the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee in Washington, D. C., on July 13, together with other disclosures and circumstances regarding alleged Communist activities, has destroyed your usefulness to the News. Therefore your services as an employe of the News are being terminated immediately.

"YOU LEFT the office July 5 for a vacation. Upon your return to New York, final payments which may be due you for your services, or under the terms of the current collective bargaining agreement with the Newspaper Guild of New York, will be made. If you so request, payment will be mailed to your home address."

The New York Local of the CIO American Newspaper Guild said it will seek to have both Barnet and Gordon reinstated.

BOTH MEN had been described as onetime Communist party members in testimony given the subcommittee by Winston Burdett, Columbia Broadcasting System newsman. Burdett said he himself had been a Red who spied for Russia.

The subcommittee heard conflicting testimony from Grutzner and Ansel Talbert, military and aviation editor of the New York Herald-Tribune, about a Dec. 17, 1950, story from Korea reporting the first combat action of F86 Sabre jets.

Both men were correspondents in Korea at the time, and Grutzner said he sent a story about the Sabre jets to his New York office with a preceding note saying it was not to be published until clearance was obtained from the Pentagon. The Times has said it published the story only after obtaining such clearance. It has disputed any implication that publication adversely affected national security.

GRUTZNER has testified other newsmen agreed to file the story with the same proviso, but Talbert denied yesterday there had been any such agreement.

Talbrt testified that Lt. Gen. George C. Stratemeyer, then the Far Easern Air Force commander, described Grutzner's story as "one of the most serious security breaches of the war."

Stratemeyer, now retired, commented at his home in Winter Park, Fla.: "That's right. Nothing should have been put out in 1950 about the first combat use." He said Grutzner was the only correspondent covering his command who did not honor security restrictions.

STRATEMEYER added:

"The New York Times statement that it published the story only after obtaining clearance from the Pentagon is a case of laying the blame on a dead man."

The Times has said the story was cleared for publication by the late Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, then air force chief of staff.

Talbert said he was astonished when he learned by chance that Grutzner was filing the story. He said he did not send it himself because "I'd given my word that I'd not break the story."

HE TESTIFIED air force intelligence officers had told correspondents, who were operating under voluntary censorship, that although the F86s had engaged the enemy in combat they felt that "the encounter was of such a fleeting nature that the element of surprise was still with us."

Grutzner's story led to a recommendation from Far East air force headquarters that he be disaccredited as a war correspondent, but the Defense Department rejected the recommendation. By then, he had returned from Korea.

TALBERT QUOTED William Barnard, then an Associated Press correspondent in Korea and now chief of the AP bureau in Dallas, as telling him after the Times' Sabre Jet story broke "that so-and-so Grutzner has double-crossed us."

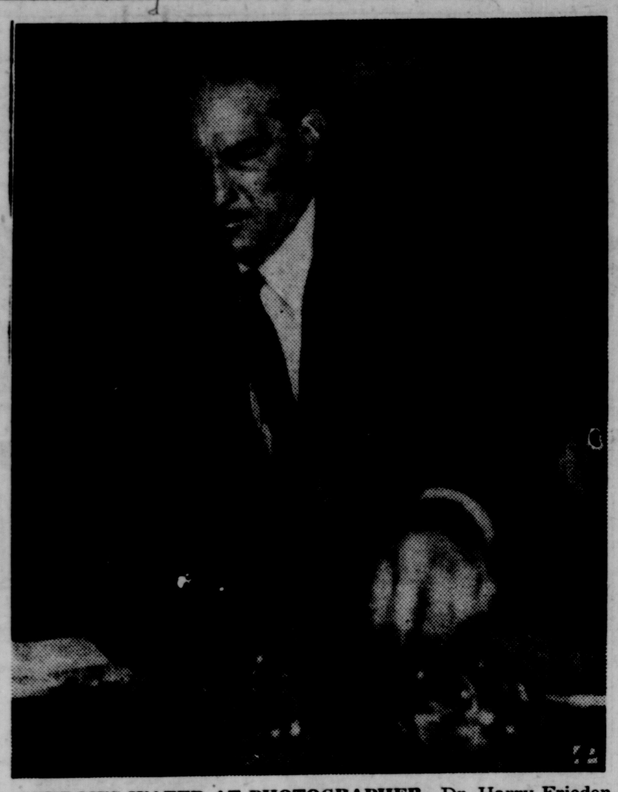

Turner Catledge, managing editor of the New York Times, sent Eastland yesterday a telegram which contained a copy of a memorandum sent to the Times by Glen Stackhouse, a United Press correspondent.

In the memo, dated July 8 and wired from San Leandro, Calif., Stackhouse said he filed the sabre jet story from Seoul to the UP Bureau in Tokyo the same day Grutzner sent his story to New York.

"ANY ASSERTIONS Grutzner guilty of security leak ridiculous in my opinion," Stackhouse's telegram said. "Recall at time I grudgingly admired Times for prying release from Pentagon while opposition was sitting on hands.

"Whole security thing so much hogwash, since Sinoreds (the Chinese Communists) by that time well aware of presence of Sabres having been in combat with them . . ."

Eastland said he had directed that Catledge's telegram with Stackhouse's memorandum be placed in the subcommittee record.

Heat Stalls Bridge

Providence, R. I., July 15 (AP)—Fire fighters used hoses and hundreds of gallons of water yesterday to break up a traffic jam at the approaches to Point street bridge. The bridge was opened to permit passage of a tugboat and when tenders tried to lower the draw spans, they found that the heat had expanded the steel and the bridge refused to close. Firefighters played hoses on the metal and —after an hour and 20 minute delay that backed up traffic four blocks—the bridges cooled and the draw spans slid into place.

RH Blood Rushed 300 Miles By Red Cross to Aid Twins

Syracuse, N. Y., July 15 (AP)—Two babies were in "fair" condition today at Syracuse General Hospital after two pints of blood were rushed from Poughkeepsie for needed transfusions.

The twin sons were born yesterday noon to Mrs. Stephen Von Hendy, two hours after she arrived unexpectedly at the hospital.

It was determined the infants needed RH blood, which was not available here. Red Cross workers contacted Greene county Red Cross personnel. Two pints of blood were taken from Mrs. Von Hendy's sister, Miss Esther DeFilippo of Poughkeepsie, at Vassar Brothers' Hospital there.

The blood was picked up by Miss Alida Y. Borst, executive secretary of the Greene county Red Cross, and Robert D. Byron of Catskill, the county chapter chairman.

They made the 300-mile trip from Poughkeepsie to Syracuse in four and a half hours on the state thruway.

Transfusions were given the twins at 9:30 p. m. So far, hospital officials said this morning, no harmful reactions have set in, and the infants are doing "fair."

Two years ago, another son was born to Mrs. Von Hendy. It also needed RH blood. A pint was obtained then from Miss DeFilippo and hurried to Syracuse.

Hires Grandmothers

St. Petersburg, Fla., July 15 (AP)—A manufacturer who sought 25 candidates for a "grandmothers assembly line" got 75 applicants in two hours. The Futuronics Manufacturing Co. had found that the eight original grandmothers among its 350 empolyes did very well. Believing that industry should afford opportunities to qualified older persons, the company decided to try to set up one assembly line composed only of grandmothers. The 25 grandmothers selected for employment were chosen yesterday on the basis of health, eyesight and other factors. The company manufactures intercommunication sets.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT ZONING

To the voters of the First Ward of the City of Kingston:

A movement is now in progress to extend the business zone further out on Albany Avenue Extension. If this continues it will result in making the Town of Ulster into a city and the Uptown Section of Kingston including the shopping sections of Wall, Fair, North Front and John Streets into a ghost town. As Alderman of the First Ward of the City of Kingston I feel it my duty to protect the people of the First Ward and I would therefore ask the voters of that ward to use their influence to prevent any further extension of the movement. It is the duty of the Common Council as a body and not that of a committee appointed by the Mayor to enact the law.

America's gone Ford!

HERE ARE A FEW DOWN-TO-EARTH REASONS WHY FORD SALES HAVE SKYROCKETED 25% IN JUST ONE YEAR!

Last year, Ford won 284,173 new friends . . . more new friends than all other cars combined!

When one maker sells a whopping 284,173 more cars . . . in a year when competitive makes barely held their own or sold fewer cars . . . that make must be worth more. And Ford's 1955 model, introduced last November, stepped up the sales pace to an even higher tempo!

Only Ford drew its styling from the years-ahead Thunderbird

Unlike other 1955 cars, Ford turned to the totally new, years-ahead Thunderbird for its styling inspiration. From its visored head lights and nearly 20% larger wrap-around windshield, to its lower, larger tail lights and clean, low lines, the 1955 Ford is styled to stay in style.

Only Ford in its field has an advanced Y-block V-8!

Ford's V-8 has an extra-deep block for smoother going and longer engine life. And because Ford has had 23 years of experience building over 15 million V-8's, you can be sure of its Trigger-Torque power . . . of its gas savings . . . of its extra worth as America's largest-selling V-8.

Only Ford in its field hangs onto its value so well!

For several years, no other low-priced car has returned so much of its original cost when resold as has Ford.

Take your Test Drive now! Why not prove Ford's extra worth to yourself? Try Trigger-Torque power. Check Ford's Thunderbird styling close up. And feel Ford's Angle-Poised Ride cushion out the bumps.

FORD THE NEW BEST SELLER . . . sells more because it's worth more!

America's gone Ford!

HERE ARE A FEW DOWN-TO-EARTH REASONS WHY FORD SALES HAVE SKYROCKETED 25% IN JUST ONE YEAR!

Last year, Ford won 284,173 new friends . . . more new friends than all other cars combined!

When one maker sells a whopping 284,173 more cars . . . in a year when competitive makes barely held their own or sold fewer cars . . . that make must be worth more. And Ford's 1955 model, introduced last November, stepped up the sales pace to an even higher tempo!

Only Ford drew its styling from the years-ahead Thunderbird

Unlike other 1955 cars, Ford turned to the totally new, years-ahead Thunderbird for its styling inspiration. From its visored head lights and nearly 20% larger wrap-around windshield, to its lower, larger tail lights and clean, low lines, the 1955 Ford is styled to stay in style.

Only Ford in its field has an advanced Y-block V-8!

Ford's V-8 has an extra-deep block for smoother going and longer engine life. And because Ford has had 23 years of experience building over 15 million V-8's, you can be sure of its Trigger-Torque power . . . of its gas savings . . . of its extra worth as America's largest-selling V-8.

Only Ford in its field hangs onto its value so well!

For several years, no other low-priced car has returned so much of its original cost when resold as has Ford.

Take your Test Drive now! Why not prove Ford's extra worth to yourself? Try Trigger-Torque power. Check Ford's Thunderbird styling close up. And feel Ford's Angle-Poised Ride cushion out the bumps.

FORD THE NEW BEST SELLER . . . sells more because it's worth more!

GOVERNMENT AND DEBT

Next to a cozy fire on a cold winter's night, a congressman finds nothing so comforting as the prospect he will be able to offer the voters a tax cut in an election year. But that prospect is growing dim for 1956.

The matter came up not long ago when Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey was testifying before a committee on extending for another year the temporary 281 billion dollar federal debt ceiling. He indicated that if the debt could be pushed no higher, proposed tax reductions for 1956 are doubtful.

The secretary said that with the present outlook for intake and outgo of federal revenues, the government would be lucky to scrape by while staying within the limit.

Lawmakers like Senator Byrd of Virginia believe that a tight ceiling is one way to compel government economies. The permanent limit is 275 billion dollars and Congress is reluctant to authorize a higher one —except temporarily.

The only trouble is that Congress itself goes on voting liberal sums of money for a great many federal projects, some quite dear to the lawmakers' hearts. They have shown no real disposition to take the responsibility for savings, but rather have passed the buck to the executive branch.

What they say in effect is: "You fellows in government must save enough to keep within the debt limit. Don't ask US how. You figure it out."

The result, of course, is that often cuts have to be made which go to the core of useful federal services, while Congress takes credit for seeming to have maintained them at adequate levels.

As a matter of practice, too, the current, temporary increase in the debt ceiling is so modest that it has forced the Treasury to undertake a number of makeshift devices, some of which might look strange for a small country bank.

The Congress is trying to have its cake and eat it, too. It wants to go before the country as a body of economy-minded members who never forget their friends. Sometimes that's a hard combination to realize.

The issue of taxes in 1956 may end the game in its present form. If any marked reductions were to be voted at the same time new borrowings were limited by the 281 billion dollar debt ceiling, the government would really be up against it.

The alternatives then would be either that the government would go broke or would begin slashing deeply into bone and muscle.

The year 1956 looks like a tough year for politicians. They may have to offer the voters the barest token of a tax gift. Such modest giving is undoubtedly against their union rules. But sometimes the realities intrude harshly on even the best-made rules.

Definition of automation: a do it itself movement.

ATOMS ARE NOT EASY

The transition to an age of atomic power is not going to be easy, and it is not going to happen overnight. No one knows this better than the topnotch nuclear scientists who will take part in the first international atomic energy conference next August in Geneva.

Creating atomic power on a large scale presents many difficult problems. There is, for example, the question of radioactive waste disposal. Whenever a nuclear reaction takes place, radioactive trash accumulates. This must be so disposed of that its deadly radiation will never again be a hazard.

Why not bury it, or dump it into the ocean? Both of these methods are being tried. But before atomic waste can be buried it must be sealed so that it can't leak out. That is quite expensive.

Besides, say the experts, when the atomic age really gets into the swing there will be so much hot trash that burying or sinking it will not be practicable. Some of them even propose to fill big rockets with atomic waste and shoot them far out into space.

Atomic trash disposal is only one of numerous problems that much be solved. The Geneva conference will help by stimulating the free interchange of knowledge among scientists of various nations. That is an important step toward widespread peacetime use of atomic energy.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE SAGA OF HENRY GARFINKLE

Life on the East Side of New York was tough half a century ago. Nothing in Horatio Alger's stories ever accurately described the poverty, the crowded living, the inadequate food, the worry over pennies. Into this world was born Henry Garfinkle whose father died at 37 when he, Henry, was a little over 14. Someone had to work, so Henry, the eldest, started at a guaranteed wage of 25 cents a day.

What is news in this is not that a boy rose from rags to riches, from newsboy to the head of the American News Company. That has happened often in the United States. What makes it news is that it is still happening. Smart, enterprising, hard-working men are still doing it and doing it not by conniving and trickery, by strike suits and raids on companies, but by constructive enterprise.

I know Garfinkle. I grew up, in my childhood, in the same environment, in circumstances slightly better than his, for there are degrees of poverty and his family was at the bottom. When he was a newsboy at the Staten Island ferry, his benefactor was Samuel I. Newhouse who came from a better environment in Bayonne, New Jersey, but not so much better. Sam staked Henry to $800, which was a fortune for both of them in those days. Today, Sam Newhouse owns some 15 newspapers, among them are very important ones. The $800 Newhouse gave Garfinkle was used to get a newsstand inside the ferry-house at Staten Island.

Henry was, at 17, a capitalist, with a leased property, employing assistants. That was the start of his present important business position. The point of this kind of enterprise is that the boss does most of the work and he saves his money and he lives poor until he can afford to live rich. Even today, Henry Garfinkle has a hoarse voice, the kind that comes from constantly shouting headlines. A 16-to-18-hour day, with the wife helping, that is the kind of capitalism that is still possible in this country. There are many Garfinkles in all parts of the country.

Too many young people, coming out of college, look to jobs that bring some kind of guaranteed living, some kind of security. Too many of them seek a job in which one moves upward by seniority until one graduates into a pension. Men like Henry Garfinkle have never had a guarantee of any kind, neither from their parents nor from a busines nor from government. They took their chances on their own ability and hard work.

Henry Garfinkle was as surprised as his friends were that he finally achieved his ambition, first expressed when he was 17 years old, in 1923, to the Newhouses, to become the owner of the American News Company which last year did a business of $180,000,000. And all the news and excitement, and the comparisons with a character out of Horatio Alger hardly affect him, because he remembers his origin and is not unmindful of the weary years of growth, the plugging and pushing, the failures and the constant fear of falling off the ladder of life back into the poverty which killed his father at 37.

This father was what in my boyhood was known as a "customer peddler." This was an interesting character in every household. He provided credit in very small amounts, for all our parents needed a little credit. That is how we got furniture or an engagement ring, a piano which was the first sign of progress in those days, or even a suit of clothes. The customer peddler was paid a quarter or half a dollar a week on account and as he came every week to collect his money, he became a friend, a counselor, a mediator in family quarrels. Sometimes, he even arranged marriages, bringing the boys and girls together and working out their problems, then he sold them the engagement ring, the suite of furniture to set up a home, and even the wedding ring.

It was a way to earn a living. Many an important business in New York started when a customer peddler put his small savings into a store or a factory. And out of such little affairs came a Henry Garfinkle, now president and principal owner of the American News Company.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

VOMITING AND PREGNANCY

Morning sickness in a pregnant woman usually appears about the sixth week of pregnancy and lasts about one and a half months. There may be actual vomiting on getting up or just a feeling of nausea. Some women, of coursce, so right through pregnancy without this symptom. There are quite a few cases, however, in which the vomiting is much in excess of the average and a study of 20 such women was undertaken by Drs. W. A. Harvey and M. J. Sherfey and reported in Psychosomatic Medicine.

These two research physicians studied the whole background of these women who were vomiting excessively and found that there was usually a history of stomach and intestinal upsets brought on by emotional disturbances. There was frequently severe difficulties with sexual life, anxiety symptoms and a habit of being extremely dependent upon others. There also seemed to be a connection between the type of the emotional upsetment and the length and severity of the vomiting. Patients who were anxious and depressed usually had severe, acute illnesses, while those who were personally immature, that is not grown up in mind and emotions although adult in body, vomited at random for longer periods.

Patients often had had eating difficulties during their infancy or became obese or lost their appetite during the adolescent years. All patients reported complete sexual frigidity.

Personality features, of course, are very different in each individual but this entire group showed a pattern of childishness in that they tended to be dependent on others, were easily discouraged in the face of difficulties, and also tended to demand attention for themselves. Reliance on the mother was common.

One group showed their immaturity by shyness, oversensitivity, desire for approval, homesickness and feelings of inferiority. They spent much time in unrealistic day-dreams. Marriage and pregnancy were considered by them as unfortunate experiences.

Another group was completely absorbed with the pregnancy, were intensively curious about just what went on at birth, and tended to ignore the rest of the world about them in this complete absorption in their own pregnancy.

What can be done to help prevent this excessive vomiting? It was found that just by putting the patient in hospital, there was either great relief of symptoms or complete cure. As soon as vomiting ceases, the emotional state of the patient improves. However, nervous tension lasts throughout pregnancy.

Of This Much We Can Be Assured, Folks

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington — (NEA) — The big thrill for some of the world's great nuclear scientists at the United Nations Conference on Peaceful Uses of Atomic Energy, opening at Geneva on Aug. 8, is that they'll be permitted to push a button.

That will close an electric circuit to start the machinery that will operate a small atomic reactor. It will be the principal item in the U. S. exhibit at Geneva.

This reactor, of the "swimming pool" type, will be at the bottom of a verical, cylindrical tank, 10 feet in diameter, buried 20 feet in the ground. Water is kept circulating in the tank to keep the reactor cool and as insulation to prevent radiation.

When the button is pushed the reactor will give off the equivalent of about 10 kilowatts of energy from the eight pounds of uranium 235 in the reactor at the bottom of the tank. This will give off a light blue glow through the water. Occasionally the reactor will be flashed to 100 kw. output. Then the blue glow will be brighter.

THIS MAY SOUND like a long way to go to see a very simple thing. But it must be recalled that outside of the United States, Canada, Britain, France and Russia, few scientists have had a chance to see an atomic reactor at work.

The United States has now made available 440 pounds of uranium—enough for 32 small, research reactors—and has offered to pay half the cost of construction to countries entering into an agreement for sharing information on the peaceful development of atomic energy. The UN conference at Geneva may be a curtain raiser to this new era.

In addition to the working, swimming-pool reactor, the United States exhibit at Geneva will also have scale models of five types of research reactors.

There will also be a reactor simulator—an exhibit to show how the control rods of a reactor are operated to start and stop the chain reaction of atomic fission.

Another exhibit shows the processing of uranium ore to the enriched metal used in the reactors.

A MODEL OF a chemical processing plant will show how the uranium is purified for reuse, after it has been "poisoned" by the isotopes made in the reactor.

The United States is not yet ready to offer to help build any of these chemical processing plants in foreign countries. The present agreements with 22 friendly countries call for bringing the atomic fuel back to the United States after its usable energy has been burned up in the research reactors.

But this is the first time that this process of purification — sometimes referred to as taking the clinkers out of the burned fuel—has been declassified by the U.S.

An exhibit of instruments used in measuring atomic reactions will also be on display at Geneva. There will be two displays on the use of isotopes, or radioactive atoms, in medical science and in industry. And there will be a general exhibit on basic research.

A hundred American firms manufacturing equipment for atomic energy processes are cooperating with the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission in preparing these exhibits.

FIFTY EDUCATIONAL and private research organizations have a share in it. But none of their equipment will be for sale at the Palais des Nations headquarters for the UN conference.

At a private exposition hall in downtown Geneva, however, some 22 American manufacturers have taken space for what will be the world's first atomic trade fair. They will have their equipment for sale, subject to the restrictions in the U. S. atomic energy and export control laws.

Fourteen American publishers will display and have on sale over 1000 technical periodicals and some 3000 books on atomic energy. The basic library of over 5,000 technical reports declassified by the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission will be open for inspection. The United States has given these libraries to friendly countries in the atoms-for-peace program.

And just to give the scientists a chance to go to the movies, for relief from the 400 talks on the program, the U. S. has prepared for showing at Geneva seven films on reactors, use of isotopes and safety precautions.

Today's Look at Geneva

Zhukov Is Seen Maneuvering For Parleys With President

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Moscow's announcement that Marshal Zhukov will attend he Geneva conference fits in with behind-the-scenes maneuvers by the Soviets that have been going on for several months to establish a line of personal communication between President Eisenhower and the Soviet government which would not be complicated by cumbersome contacts with the other Western powers.

London is frankly worried about this. Telephone conversations between this correspondent and informed persons in Britain indicate that the British government is somewhat puzzled by the latest developments and is concerned about the rumors that "Ike" and Marshal Zhukov are planning to have private conferences in what appears to be an effort on the part of the Soviet government to make a "deal."

This may seem logical to the Russian mastermind and might worry some Britons but, of course, it ignores the fast that Mr. Eisenhower wasn't born yesterday and perhaps more than any other man in the world today is alert to the traps and schemes which seek to weaken the Western world's armament program.

Direct contacts between representatives of two powers are not unusual. Sir Anthony Eden and Foreign Minister Molotov conferred often in private at the Geneva conference a year ago.

Ever since Marshal Zhukov became Minister of Defense in the present cabinet in Moscow there has been a studied effort to bring him into closer contact with his wartime friend, Gen. Eisenhower, Supreme Allied Commander. The marshal was in Berlin after the war as head of the Soviet armed forces and fraternized a good deal with Gen. Eisenhower.

The fact that a friendship has existed and that a personal correspondence between the two men has been carried on in recent months has been widely publicized. At one time Zhukov was shelved by Stalin because of a fear that the military hero would get to be too big a man in the Soviet Union. The present regime evidently not only has no such fears but deliberately invites him to accompany the Soviet delegation to the meeting "at the summit." It means that the Red Army, a real influence in Russia today, is to be represented at Geneva.

Unquestionably the Soviet leaders have been trying to figure out a way to carry on confidential conversations with President Eisenhower outside of the three daily formal conferences in Geneva. As is customary in such international meetings, from fifty to 100 persons are in the conference room at the same time. Obviously every one who speaks is on his guard and there isn't much give and take. It's not easy to make progress that way.

But in between and after the formal conference, especially at mealtime, there is informality. That's when the real business can be done and that's when it can be determined if there is any elasticity in the Soviet position—any readiness to agree to matters of substance or to develop a procedure that could bring about such agreements later on.

Plainly the Soviets are depending on Marshal Zhukov and his friend "Ike" to do a lot of chatting. The marshal is a member of the Communist party and must be presumed to be loyal to the military interests of Soviet Russia. He can parrot a propaganda line if instructed to do so and he can follow directions as to what to say and how to say it.

There is no question but what the Russians are after concessions. They want favors on trade —some strategic goods. They want access to raw materials. It is not known what price they would be willing to pay to obtain such things from the Western powers.

In the Russian delegation are such English-speaking officials as Andrei Gromyko, who, incidentally, is a good friend of Bernard M. Baruch. At the United Nations meetings there was many an occasion when Gromyko dined at Baruch's house in New York. It is significant that when Molotov was in the United States not long ago he went to Long Island to see Baruch at his summer home. Also, the elder statesman just happened on Wednesday of this week—one of the busiest times for President Eisenhower—to be visiting at the White House. What they said has not been revealed.

It may be conjectured that the play has been Gormyko to Molotov to Baruch, and now Baruch to Ike and maybe back to Marshal Zhukov in Geneva.

All this can be considered healthy in a broad sense because if the Soviet leaders are really bent on making a success of the Geneva conference, they must necessarily develop a channel of communication, unofficial, informal and private, direct to the head of the most powerful nation in the world, President Eisenhower.

But channels are not so important as what is transmitted through them, and the Soviets will find that Mr. Eisenhower will rarely meet with any one alone—he has a habit of having Secretary of State Dulles at his side and, if he is alone, he doesn't make leads or agreements. If the Soviets want to make concessions they can discreetly define them privately. The way is open.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, July 14—As soon as Winston Burdett finished his "confession," which came too late to do any good and seems very skimpy anyway, the newspaper guild rushed into print with misleading statements about its own present purity. But the guild of today is the beneficiary of all the cruel, treacherous, dirty work of its Communist officials and rank and file in the days when loyal Americans went through hell every day on the job. Its worst features now represented as virtues, are the work of the Reds, whom it now disowns.

In the 'thirties under Roosevelt, with a packed labor relations board and Communists spotted all over that vicious bureaucracy, a Communist had special privilege in any shop with a guild contract. A Red had special privilege because they were all nagging, snarling, agitating all the time. His work was secondary. If he was fired for neglect or incompetence he could go straight to the board and claim he had been canned for "union activity." They did little else but agitate and conspire, so the board would order the paper to reinstate the rat, with back pay. There were some good writers and reporters among them, but the guild was the refuge and protection of the lazy slob with little ability.

We Americans on the World-Telegram kept saying that these rodents were Reds. But how could we prove it? Like the Ku Klux, they were oath-bound. Ironically, they damned the Klan for its secrecy. You develop a sense in dealing with Reds. You can spot them and some of those I spotted then have been named by Burdett in his sworn testimony. I spotted that Milton Kaufman presiding, one night at a meeting of the World-Telegram unit. How did that stranger from an obscure publication land in the chair of a meeting of American newspaper people? I heard that Heywood Broun imposed him on us. Anyway, there he was, whacking the gavel and running our show. When I last heard of him he was press agent for Nathan Witt in a Communist waterfront strike. He took the fifth amendment after Burdett named him.

There was a group of strangers about midway down meeting room known to none of us Americans. They were the real Reds with a charter for a "labor press unit." One of the papers represented by this bunch was nothing but an occasional mimeographed throwaway. But it could certify as many "members" of its staff as the Reds wanted. All they had to do was pay their little head tax. They were experts at heckling. One night a nasty little brat of a copy boy sat in a front seat yelling "company union, company union" throughout a reasoned speech opposing affiliation with the CIO.

The guild was organized as a "professional" society, not a union. Then Broun took it into the AF of L and, soon afterward, over to the CIO because the CIO was crawling with Reds. Broun wanted power and he soon opened the membership to sweepers, copy boys, girl clerks in many departments, scrubwomen — everybody. They were drifters but they could vote. This faker, who never could cover a story because he was so lazy and indifferent to truth, was lording it over his betters as a "leader" of the "little people."

He started a rag called the "Nutmeg" and soon dealt himself a dirty deuce. Broun and his chiseling friends, who never paid for anything they could mooch, declared a boycott against National Distillers for advertising in the Chicago American where a strike was on. That was humor. They would drink sheep-dip if it was free. The next week the Nutmeg had a page ad for National. Broun couldn't resist a few dollars. I phoned the World-Telegram and they ran a story with a spread showing the ad in the Nutmeg.

Under a trick in the constitution you had to stay in the guild for life or get out of the business. A bunch of floaters in this catch-all union could drive out of his calling the best reporter in the country. The clause said you could be expelled for withdrawing your designation of this Red layout as your bargaining agent. We were greenhorns in the hands of dedicated conspirators. A sportwriter, a big Irishman on the W-T, got sore at the guild and resigned. The paper had an open shop so the guild couldn't make Roy Howard fire him. A year later, Marshall Field opened up his little sheet, PM, to expiate the sin of inherited wealth.

This Irisher went over to PM but he had to dig up a $500 fine before he could go to work. Only a couple of years ago, Harriet Van Horne, the W-T's radio-TV specialist, was fined $500 for proposing after 76 days an end to a terrible strike called by a "committee" which had wangled authorization. This was the new, "reformed" guild.

Toward the end, Roy Howard asked me what the people would think if he renewed Broun's contract. I said it would be a kick in the teeth. They had given Roy loyalty and taken Broun's abuse for years. The least he could do was throw the frowsy tramp out and let him go to the Post. Roy did.

Broun is a saintly myth to young newspaper people, but he dedicated his life to mendacity, cruelty and sham.

As a matter of practice, too, the current, temporary increase in the debt ceiling is so modest that it has forced the Treasury to undertake a number of makeshift devices, some of which might look strange for a small country bank.

The Congress is trying to have its cake and eat it, too. It wants to go before the country as a body of economy-minded members who never forget their friends. Sometimes that's a hard combination to realize.

The issue of taxes in 1956 may end the game in its present form. If any marked reductions were to be voted at the same time new borrowings were limited by the 281 billion dollar debt ceiling, the government would really be up against it.

The alternatives then would be either that the government would go broke or would begin slashing deeply into bone and muscle.

The year 1956 looks like a tough year for politicians. They may have to offer the voters the barest token of a tax gift. Such modest giving is undoubtedly against their union rules. But sometimes the realities intrude harshly on even the best-made rules.

Definition of automation: a do it itself movement.

ATOMS ARE NOT EASY

The transition to an age of atomic power is not going to be easy, and it is not going to happen overnight. No one knows this better than the topnotch nuclear scientists who will take part in the first international atomic energy conference next August in Geneva.

Creating atomic power on a large scale presents many difficult problems. There is, for example, the question of radioactive waste disposal. Whenever a nuclear reaction takes place, radioactive trash accumulates. This must be so disposed of that its deadly radiation will never again be a hazard.

Why not bury it, or dump it into the ocean? Both of these methods are being tried. But before atomic waste can be buried it must be sealed so that it can't leak out. That is quite expensive.

Besides, say the experts, when the atomic age really gets into the swing there will be so much hot trash that burying or sinking it will not be practicable. Some of them even propose to fill big rockets with atomic waste and shoot them far out into space.

Atomic trash disposal is only one of numerous problems that much be solved. The Geneva conference will help by stimulating the free interchange of knowledge among scientists of various nations. That is an important step toward widespread peacetime use of atomic energy.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE SAGA OF HENRY GARFINKLE

Life on the East Side of New York was tough half a century ago. Nothing in Horatio Alger's stories ever accurately described the poverty, the crowded living, the inadequate food, the worry over pennies. Into this world was born Henry Garfinkle whose father died at 37 when he, Henry, was a little over 14. Someone had to work, so Henry, the eldest, started at a guaranteed wage of 25 cents a day.

What is news in this is not that a boy rose from rags to riches, from newsboy to the head of the American News Company. That has happened often in the United States. What makes it news is that it is still happening. Smart, enterprising, hard-working men are still doing it and doing it not by conniving and trickery, by strike suits and raids on companies, but by constructive enterprise.

I know Garfinkle. I grew up, in my childhood, in the same environment, in circumstances slightly better than his, for there are degrees of poverty and his family was at the bottom. When he was a newsboy at the Staten Island ferry, his benefactor was Samuel I. Newhouse who came from a better environment in Bayonne, New Jersey, but not so much better. Sam staked Henry to $800, which was a fortune for both of them in those days. Today, Sam Newhouse owns some 15 newspapers, among them are very important ones. The $800 Newhouse gave Garfinkle was used to get a newsstand inside the ferry-house at Staten Island.

Henry was, at 17, a capitalist, with a leased property, employing assistants. That was the start of his present important business position. The point of this kind of enterprise is that the boss does most of the work and he saves his money and he lives poor until he can afford to live rich. Even today, Henry Garfinkle has a hoarse voice, the kind that comes from constantly shouting headlines. A 16-to-18-hour day, with the wife helping, that is the kind of capitalism that is still possible in this country. There are many Garfinkles in all parts of the country.

Too many young people, coming out of college, look to jobs that bring some kind of guaranteed living, some kind of security. Too many of them seek a job in which one moves upward by seniority until one graduates into a pension. Men like Henry Garfinkle have never had a guarantee of any kind, neither from their parents nor from a busines nor from government. They took their chances on their own ability and hard work.

Henry Garfinkle was as surprised as his friends were that he finally achieved his ambition, first expressed when he was 17 years old, in 1923, to the Newhouses, to become the owner of the American News Company which last year did a business of $180,000,000. And all the news and excitement, and the comparisons with a character out of Horatio Alger hardly affect him, because he remembers his origin and is not unmindful of the weary years of growth, the plugging and pushing, the failures and the constant fear of falling off the ladder of life back into the poverty which killed his father at 37.

This father was what in my boyhood was known as a "customer peddler." This was an interesting character in every household. He provided credit in very small amounts, for all our parents needed a little credit. That is how we got furniture or an engagement ring, a piano which was the first sign of progress in those days, or even a suit of clothes. The customer peddler was paid a quarter or half a dollar a week on account and as he came every week to collect his money, he became a friend, a counselor, a mediator in family quarrels. Sometimes, he even arranged marriages, bringing the boys and girls together and working out their problems, then he sold them the engagement ring, the suite of furniture to set up a home, and even the wedding ring.

It was a way to earn a living. Many an important business in New York started when a customer peddler put his small savings into a store or a factory. And out of such little affairs came a Henry Garfinkle, now president and principal owner of the American News Company.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

VOMITING AND PREGNANCY

Morning sickness in a pregnant woman usually appears about the sixth week of pregnancy and lasts about one and a half months. There may be actual vomiting on getting up or just a feeling of nausea. Some women, of coursce, so right through pregnancy without this symptom. There are quite a few cases, however, in which the vomiting is much in excess of the average and a study of 20 such women was undertaken by Drs. W. A. Harvey and M. J. Sherfey and reported in Psychosomatic Medicine.

These two research physicians studied the whole background of these women who were vomiting excessively and found that there was usually a history of stomach and intestinal upsets brought on by emotional disturbances. There was frequently severe difficulties with sexual life, anxiety symptoms and a habit of being extremely dependent upon others. There also seemed to be a connection between the type of the emotional upsetment and the length and severity of the vomiting. Patients who were anxious and depressed usually had severe, acute illnesses, while those who were personally immature, that is not grown up in mind and emotions although adult in body, vomited at random for longer periods.

Patients often had had eating difficulties during their infancy or became obese or lost their appetite during the adolescent years. All patients reported complete sexual frigidity.

Personality features, of course, are very different in each individual but this entire group showed a pattern of childishness in that they tended to be dependent on others, were easily discouraged in the face of difficulties, and also tended to demand attention for themselves. Reliance on the mother was common.

One group showed their immaturity by shyness, oversensitivity, desire for approval, homesickness and feelings of inferiority. They spent much time in unrealistic day-dreams. Marriage and pregnancy were considered by them as unfortunate experiences.

Another group was completely absorbed with the pregnancy, were intensively curious about just what went on at birth, and tended to ignore the rest of the world about them in this complete absorption in their own pregnancy.

What can be done to help prevent this excessive vomiting? It was found that just by putting the patient in hospital, there was either great relief of symptoms or complete cure. As soon as vomiting ceases, the emotional state of the patient improves. However, nervous tension lasts throughout pregnancy.

Of This Much We Can Be Assured, Folks

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington — (NEA) — The big thrill for some of the world's great nuclear scientists at the United Nations Conference on Peaceful Uses of Atomic Energy, opening at Geneva on Aug. 8, is that they'll be permitted to push a button.

That will close an electric circuit to start the machinery that will operate a small atomic reactor. It will be the principal item in the U. S. exhibit at Geneva.

This reactor, of the "swimming pool" type, will be at the bottom of a verical, cylindrical tank, 10 feet in diameter, buried 20 feet in the ground. Water is kept circulating in the tank to keep the reactor cool and as insulation to prevent radiation.

When the button is pushed the reactor will give off the equivalent of about 10 kilowatts of energy from the eight pounds of uranium 235 in the reactor at the bottom of the tank. This will give off a light blue glow through the water. Occasionally the reactor will be flashed to 100 kw. output. Then the blue glow will be brighter.

THIS MAY SOUND like a long way to go to see a very simple thing. But it must be recalled that outside of the United States, Canada, Britain, France and Russia, few scientists have had a chance to see an atomic reactor at work.

The United States has now made available 440 pounds of uranium—enough for 32 small, research reactors—and has offered to pay half the cost of construction to countries entering into an agreement for sharing information on the peaceful development of atomic energy. The UN conference at Geneva may be a curtain raiser to this new era.

In addition to the working, swimming-pool reactor, the United States exhibit at Geneva will also have scale models of five types of research reactors.

There will also be a reactor simulator—an exhibit to show how the control rods of a reactor are operated to start and stop the chain reaction of atomic fission.

Another exhibit shows the processing of uranium ore to the enriched metal used in the reactors.

A MODEL OF a chemical processing plant will show how the uranium is purified for reuse, after it has been "poisoned" by the isotopes made in the reactor.

The United States is not yet ready to offer to help build any of these chemical processing plants in foreign countries. The present agreements with 22 friendly countries call for bringing the atomic fuel back to the United States after its usable energy has been burned up in the research reactors.

But this is the first time that this process of purification — sometimes referred to as taking the clinkers out of the burned fuel—has been declassified by the U.S.

An exhibit of instruments used in measuring atomic reactions will also be on display at Geneva. There will be two displays on the use of isotopes, or radioactive atoms, in medical science and in industry. And there will be a general exhibit on basic research.

A hundred American firms manufacturing equipment for atomic energy processes are cooperating with the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission in preparing these exhibits.

FIFTY EDUCATIONAL and private research organizations have a share in it. But none of their equipment will be for sale at the Palais des Nations headquarters for the UN conference.

At a private exposition hall in downtown Geneva, however, some 22 American manufacturers have taken space for what will be the world's first atomic trade fair. They will have their equipment for sale, subject to the restrictions in the U. S. atomic energy and export control laws.

Fourteen American publishers will display and have on sale over 1000 technical periodicals and some 3000 books on atomic energy. The basic library of over 5,000 technical reports declassified by the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission will be open for inspection. The United States has given these libraries to friendly countries in the atoms-for-peace program.

And just to give the scientists a chance to go to the movies, for relief from the 400 talks on the program, the U. S. has prepared for showing at Geneva seven films on reactors, use of isotopes and safety precautions.

Today's Look at Geneva

Zhukov Is Seen Maneuvering For Parleys With Presiden

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Moscow's announcement that Marshal Zhukov will attend he Geneva conference fits in with behind-the-scenes maneuvers by the Soviets that have been going on for several months to establish a line of personal communication between President Eisenhower and the Soviet government which would not be complicated by cumbersome contacts with the other Western powers.

London is frankly worried about this. Telephone conversations between this correspondent and informed persons in Britain indicate that the British government is somewhat puzzled by the latest developments and is concerned about the rumors that "Ike" and Marshal Zhukov are planning to have private conferences in what appears to be an effort on the part of the Soviet government to make a "deal."

This may seem logical to the Russian mastermind and might worry some Britons but, of course, it ignores the fast that Mr. Eisenhower wasn't born yesterday and perhaps more than any other man in the world today is alert to the traps and schemes which seek to weaken the Western world's armament program.

Direct contacts between representatives of two powers are not unusual. Sir Anthony Eden and Foreign Minister Molotov conferred often in private at the Geneva conference a year ago.

Ever since Marshal Zhukov became Minister of Defense in the present cabinet in Moscow there has been a studied effort to bring him into closer contact with his wartime friend, Gen. Eisenhower, Supreme Allied Commander. The marshal was in Berlin after the war as head of the Soviet armed forces and fraternized a good deal with Gen. Eisenhower.

The fact that a friendship has existed and that a personal correspondence between the two men has been carried on in recent months has been widely publicized. At one time Zhukov was shelved by Stalin because of a fear that the military hero would get to be too big a man in the Soviet Union. The present regime evidently not only has no such fears but deliberately invites him to accompany the Soviet delegation to the meeting "at the summit." It means that the Red Army, a real influence in Russia today, is to be represented at Geneva.

Unquestionably the Soviet leaders have been trying to figure out a way to carry on confidential conversations with President Eisenhower outside of the three daily formal conferences in Geneva. As is customary in such international meetings, from fifty to 100 persons are in the conference room at the same time. Obviously every one who speaks is on his guard and there isn't much give and take. It's not easy to make progres that way.

But in between and after th formal conference, especiall at mealtime, there is infor mality. That's when the rea business can be done and that' when it can be determined i there is any elasticity in th Soviet position—any readines to agree to matters of substanc or to develop a procedure tha could bring about such agree ments later on.

Plainly the Soviets are de pending on Marshal Zhukov an his friend "Ike" to do a lot o chatting. The marshal is a mem ber of the Communist party an must be presumed to be loyal t the military interests of Sovie Russia. He can parrot a propa ganda line if instructed to do s and he can follow directions a to what to say and how to sa it.

There is no question but wha the Russians are after conces sions. They want favors on trad —some strategic goods. The want access to raw materials. I is not known what price the would be willing to pay to ob tain such things from the West ern powers.

In the Russian delegation ar such English-speaking official as Andrei Gromyko, who, inci dentally, is a good friend of Ber nard M. Baruch. At the Unite Nations meetings there wa many an occasion when Gro myko dined at Baruch's house i New York. It is significant tha when Molotov was in the Unite States not long ago he went t Long Island to see Baruch a his summer home. Also, the elde statesman just happened o Wednesday of this week—one o the busiest times for Presiden Eisenhower—to be visiting a the White House. What the said has not been revealed.

It may be conjectured tha the play has been Gormyko t Molotov to Baruch, and nov Baruch to Ike and maybe bac to Marshal Zhukov in Geneva

All this can be considere healthy in a broad sense be cause if the Soviet leaders ar really bent on making a succes of the Geneva conference, the must necessarily develop a chan nel of communication, unofficia informal and private, direct t the head of the most powerfu nation in the world, Presider Eisenhower.

But channels are not so im portant as what is transmitte through them, and the Soviet will find that Mr. Eisenhowe will rarely meet with any or alone—he has a habit of havin Secretary of State Dulles at h side and, if he is alone, h doesn't make leads or agree ments. If the Soviets want t make concessions they can di creetly define them privatel The way is open.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, July 14—As soon as Winston Burdett finished his "confession," which came too late to do any good and seems very skimpy anyway, the newspaper guild rushed into print with misleading statements about its own present purity. But the guild of today is the beneficiary of all the cruel, treacherous, dirty work of its Communist officials and rank and file in the days when loyal Americans went through hell every day on the job. Its worst features now represented as virtues, are the work of the Reds, whom it now disowns.

In the 'thirties under Roosevelt, with a packed labor relations board and Communists spotted all over that vicious bureaucracy, a Communist had special privilege in any shop with a guild contract. A Red had special privilege because they were all nagging, snarling, agitating all the time. His work was secondary. If he was fired for neglect or incompetence he could go straight to the board and claim he had been canned for "union activity." They did little else but agitate and conspire, so the board would order the paper to reinstate the rat, with back pay. There were some good writers and reporters among them, but the guild was the refuge and protection of the lazy slob with little ability.

We Americans on the World-Telegram kept saying that these rodents were Reds. But how could we prove it? Like the Ku Klux, they were oath-bound. Ironically, they damned the Klan for its secrecy. You develop a sense in dealing with Reds. You can spot them and some of those I spotted then have been named by Burdett in his sworn testimony. I spotted that Milton Kaufman presiding, one night at a meeting of the World-Telegram unit. How did that stranger from an obscure publication land in the chair of a meeting of American newspaper people? I heard that Heywood Broun imposed him on us. Anyway, there he was, whacking the gavel and running our show. When I last heard of him he was press agent for Nathan Witt in a Communist waterfront strike. He took the fifth amendment after Burdett named him.

There was a group of strangers about midway down meeting room known to none of us Americans. They were the real Reds with a charter for a "labor press unit." One of the papers represented by this bunch was nothing but an occasional mimeographed throwaway. But it could certify as many "members" of its staff as the Reds wanted. All they had to do was pay their little head tax. They were experts at heckling. One night a nasty little brat of a copy boy sat in a front seat yelling "company union, company union" throughout a reasoned speech opposing affiliation with the CIO.

The guild was organized as a "professional" society, not a union. Then Broun took it into the AF of L and, soon afterward, over to the CIO because the CIO was crawling with Reds. Broun wanted power and he soon opened the membership to sweepers, copy boys, girl clerks in many departments, scrubwomen — everybody. They were drifters but they could vote. This faker, who never could cover a story because he was so lazy and indifferent to truth, was lording it over his betters as a "leader" of the "little people."

He started a rag called the "Nutmeg" and soon dealt himself a dirty deuce. Broun and his chiseling friends, who never paid for anything they could mooch, declared a boycott against National Distillers for advertising in the Chicago American where a strike was on. That was humor. They would drink sheep-dip if it was free. The next week the Nutmeg had a page ad for National. Broun couldn't resist a few dollars. I phoned the World-Telegram and they ran a story with a spread showing the ad in the Nutmeg.

Under a trick in the constitution you had to stay in the guild for life or get out of the business. A bunch of floaters in this catch-all union could drive out of his calling the best reporter in the country. The clause said you could be expelled for withdrawing your designation of this Red layout as your bargaining agent. We were greenhorns in the hands of dedicated conspirators. A sportwriter, a big Irishman on the W-T, got sore at the guild and resigned. The paper had an open shop so the guild couldn't make Roy Howard fire him. A year later, Marshall Field opened up his little sheet, PM, to expiate the sin of inherited wealth.

This Irisher went over to PM but he had to dig up a $500 fine before he could go to work. Only a couple of years ago, Harriet Van Horne, the W-T's radio-TV specialist, was fined $500 for proposing after 76 days an end to a terrible strike called by a "committee" which had wangled authorization. This was the new, "reformed" guild.

Toward the end, Roy Howard asked me what the people would think if he renewed Broun's contract. I said it would be a kick in the teeth. They ha given Roy loyalty and take Broun's abuse for years. Th least he could do was throw th frowsy tramp out and let hi go to the Post. Roy did.

Broun is a saintly myth t young newspaper people, but h dedicated his life to mendacit cruelty and sham.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

My readers seem to sense it when I am run out of material and they just sit down and write me letters. Believe me I appreciate it no end, especially in this heat. One letter is from Emaline Myer, Port-Ewen-on-Hudson, Ulster Co. New York, printed on her stationery. I like that. I think when I will mention Port Ewen now, I will add that hyphenated phrase. The way Port Ewen is growing in all directions with splendid new homes, park and even private swimming pool the hyphenated name should suit it fine. Besides my grandmother's home has a view of the Hudson which I enjoy everytime I go there. My first school was No. 13, the Red Brick one on 9W as you enter the village. Emaline Myer tells she went there some 70 years ago with my grandmother's neighbor, Miss Winfield. I remember a well for drinking water, but I do not remember the teacher passing around the dipper for the pupils to drink from in my day. Miss Myer tells how the dipper was passed around and one pupil did not swallow the water but instead blew it out in a stream in naughtiness. I do not remember Miss Winfield, the daughter, but her mother, Elizabeth Winfield, who used to visit with my grandparents, must have been over 70 then. Folks who never drank well water may fear it. We drank well water for years at my grandmother's in Port Ewen, and I do not remember the well ever going dry. The water was very cold and had an odd tasty flavor. Folks who visited us from Kingston and walked over in those days certainly seemed to like the cool water and no one ever became ill from it. Boiling it, took out the flavor, even when cooled.

The other letter is from Saugerties, New York in which the writer enclosed a part of a column from "The Saugerties Daily Post" of Saturday, July 2nd, 1955. It is called "Mist of Memories" and tells of happenings back in the 1880's. For instance, July 1, 1880 the thermometers were ranging in the nineties in Saugerties. Another item reads: "The firm of Burhans and Brainard shipped on Saturday by James A. Booth, the largest sill (window sill, no doubt) ever manufactured in Ulster county. It is for the new bank now being completed at the corner of Broadway and Wall street. The size is 16 feet, 8 inches long, 4 feet wide and a foot thick. Fourteen men were working on it at one time under Nelson Burhans. The stone was quarried by Westley Lewis." Do you think it could have been for a Kingston bank, for today we have no Broadway and Wall street corner.

My Saugerties correspondent also wrote that there is a book out "Robert Fulton and The Steamboat" published by Random House, priced a $1.50, which I take it to be a recent book. She wrote: "Lovers of our beautiful Hudson river will be interested in the strange craft's progress up stream. This is the story of the inventor who opened a new era in American history." I always enjoying seeing columns covering the yesteryears, especially in Ulster County newspapers.

I stopped in for a minute with the Terpenings, Sunset Drive, Port Ewen. They have the coolest house, although they did not even have their fan on. A breeze was blowing right through the house and it was a good 90 outside. That is Port Ewen for you, cool in the summer, warm in the winter. They showed me a picture of the Skillyput with a white horse, wagon and lady. Copies of these can be seen at Carl Weber's Pharmacy, and Weiner's Grocery in Rondout. The lady was Almira Hyde, aunt of Mr. Terpening. The horse's name was Florye. I have seen a number of oil paintings made from this photo, as this is a very popular photo of the Skillyput.

THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME (Registered U. S. Patent Office) By JIMMY HATLO

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Park, Mass., July 15—Supposing the principle of some form of the so-called guaranteed annual wage, or an extended form of unemployment compensation, spreads to a large number of companies, will most workers really benefit?

Many workers thing that somehow or other life can be made secure by legislation or labor union agreement. Higher wages, shorter hours, and unemployment benefits may temporarily raise their standard of living. Most of their victories, however, so increase their cost of living that the wage earner would have little more left at the end of the year, were it not for the inventions of labor-saving devices.

CAPITAL (employers) and wage earners are like two tanks of water connected at the bottom by a pipe. The pipe represents the channels of trade. The water represents income. The Capital Tank is big and holds lots of water. The Labor Tank is smaller and holds less water. Because, however, both tanks stand at the same level, and because water always seeks its own level, the water in both tanks will reach the same level, no matter how much is poured into either tank. This applies to the so-called "guaranteed wage."

If a Labor Union "wins" a strike for a guaranteed wage, this is like pouring water into the little tank from the big tank. For only a moment does the labor union have the increase in its tank. The benefit soon flows back to the big tank by way of higher rents, higher prices, and greater interest rates. The "water" is constantly adjusting itself by means of the connecting pipe, which is Trade. So you see the proportion of the money union labor retains is not really an increase. There are only two ways to get healthy increases in wages. One is through producing more by working harder and longer. The other is through new inventions and products that cut costs and increase output. The greatest value of labor unions to the wageworkers is that the unions force capital to spend money on research, inventions, and advertising,—which reduces costs and increases production. A healthy economy is dependent upon good business, which is the operation of an enterprise profitably and efficiently.

TO DO THIS the employer must be free to buy his raw materials and labor only in the amount needed and at the lowest reasonable price. Long-term contracts should be entered only if they assure the most economical use of resources. In our private enterprise system, an employer benefits his wageworkers most when he minimizes his costs and maximizes his returns. We have real prosperity only when there are more jobs and more opportunities for more people.

To say that we shall stabilize our economy by a guaranteed annual wage, rather than by the operation of business efficiently and profitably, is to misunderstand what makes our private enterprise system work. It is hard-headed business sense and new inventions that have given us more refrigerators, more automobiles, and more homes. This is the kind of system which benefits wageworkers in the long run.

Atom Power

Detroit (AP) — Detroit Edison Co. which now is pioneering a 45 million dollar nuclear power plant, says it will build a second and third plants within the next decade. "And we should be able to produce power at a profit with the second installation," says Robert W. Hartwell, director of the company's nuclear power development. Edison's first power plant, which it is building with a group of associate utilities, will be in operation by 1960. Hartwell says the cost of operating the first reactor will be about $450 kilowatt hour compared to $80 to $90 for conventional fuels. "We'll chalk that one up to research and development," he added.

Baltimore Judge Named by President

Washington, July 15 (AP)—U. S. Solicitor General Simon E. Sobeloff was named last night by President Eisenhower, subject to Senate confirmation, to be a member of the 4th Circuit Court of Appeals.

Sobeloff is from Baltimore, as is retired Judge Morris A. Soper whom Sobeloff was named to succeed. Sobeloff, 62, is a Republican. He has been solicitor general since February 1954.

The 4th Judicial Circuit embraces Maryland and portions of West Virginia, Virginia, North Carolina and South Carolina.

The White House said no new solicitor general has been chosen.

Switched Decision

Jacksonville (AP)—Reorganization of the bankrupt Florida East Coast Railway, bounced around by federal courts and the interstate Commerce Commission since 1931, took one of its strangest twists when Miami asked the federal court for permission to sue the railroad in state court. Miami wanted to file a condemnation suit to open four grade crossings across the railroad tracks. It was necessary for the city to get Federal Court permission because a judge now dead issued an order years ago saying the FEC couldn't be sued during the reorganization proceedings.

Expensive Fish

Elizabethtown, Ky. (AP) — Dr. M. J. Noel found a new way to catch fish but it was expensive. He parked his 1955 model car near a river and the machine rolled down a steep shore into the water. When a wrecker retrieved the car, two fish were found inside.

FTC Will Try Block Of Magazine Merger

Washington, July 15 (AP)—The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) said yesterday it will seek to block merger of the two biggest rivals among agricultural magazines, the Farm Journal and Better Farming.

On grounds that such a merger may "tend to create a monopoly," the commission said it will seek to block purchase by Farm Journal, Inc., of Better Farming, formerly known as the Country Gentleman, from the Curtis Publishing Co. It set a hearing for Sept. 20 in Philadelphia.

Church Sentence

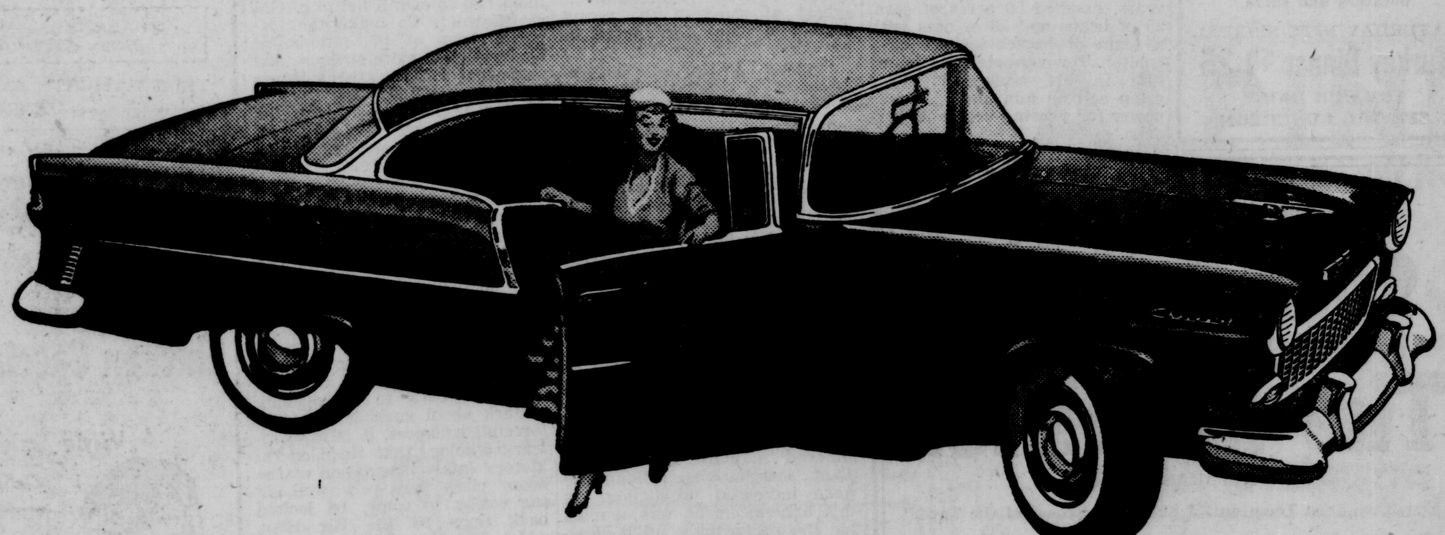

Columbia, S. C. (AP)—A man who flourished a hand grenade when Richland county deputies went to arrest him has been put under a peace bond with the stipulation that he attend church or Sunday school each Sunday with his family for one year. Magistrate Cal Lawsor sentenced him to serve five days or pay a $5 fine. The man's wife is to report each Monday whether he went to church the previous day. There is also a suspended sentence of 30 days in jail or a $100 fine. The officers said they were called by the man's wife. He pulled the pin of the grenade which failed to go off because it did not contain any powder.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

My readers seem to sense it when I am run out of material and they just sit down and write me letters. Believe me I appreciate it no end, especially in this heat. One letter is from Emaline Myer, Port-Ewen-on-Hudson, Ulster Co. New York, printed on her stationery. I like that. I think when I will mention Port Ewen now, I will add that hyphenated phrase. The way Port Ewen is growing in all directions with splendid new homes, park and even private swimming pool the hyphenated name should suit it fine. Besides my grandmother's home has a view of the Hudson which I enjoy everytime I go there. My first school was No. 13, the Red Brick one on 9W as you enter the village. Emaline Myer tells she went there some 70 years ago with my grandmother's neighbor, Miss Winfield. I remember a well for drinking water, but I do not remember the teacher passing around the dipper for the pupils to drink from in my day. Miss Myer tells how the dipper was passed around and one pupil did not swallow the water but instead blew it out in a stream in naughtiness. I do not remember Miss Winfield, the daughter, but her mother, Elizabeth Winfield, who used to visit with my grandparents, must have been over 70 then. Folks who never drank well water may fear it. We drank well water for years at my grandmother's in Port Ewen, and I do not remember the well ever going dry. The water was very cold and had an odd tasty flavor. Folks who visited us from Kingston and walked over in those days certainly seemed to like the cool water and no one ever became ill from it. Boiling it, took out the flavor, even when cooled.

The other letter is from Saugerties, New York in which the writer enclosed a part of a column from "The Saugerties Daily Post" of Saturday, July 2nd, 1955. It is called "Mist of Memories" and tells of happenings back in the 1880's. For instance, July 1, 1880 the thermometers were ranging in the nineties in Saugerties. Another item reads: "The firm of Burhans and Brainard shipped on Saturday by James A. Booth, the largest sill (window sill, no doubt) ever manufactured in Ulster county. It is for the new bank now being completed at the corner of Broadway and Wall street. The size is 16 feet, 8 inches long, 4 feet wide and a foot thick. Fourteen men were working on it at one time under Nelson Burhans. The stone was quarried by Westley Lewis." Do you think it could have been for a Kingston bank, for today we have no Broadway and Wall street corner.

My Saugerties correspondent also wrote that there is a book out "Robert Fulton and The Steamboat" published by Random House, priced a $1.50, which I take it to be a recent book. She wrote: "Lovers of our beautiful Hudson river will be interested in the strange craft's progress up stream. This is the story of the inventor who opened a new era in American history." I always enjoying seeing columns covering the yesteryears, especially in Ulster County newspapers.

I stopped in for a minute with the Terpenings, Sunset Drive, Port Ewen. They have the coolest house, although they did not even have their fan on. A breeze was blowing right through the house and it was a good 90 outside. That is Port Ewen for you, cool in the summer, warm in the winter. They showed me a picture of the Skillyput with a white horse, wagon and lady. Copies of these can be seen at Carl Weber's Pharmacy, and Weiner's Grocery in Rondout. The lady was Almira Hyde, aunt of Mr. Terpening. The horse's name was Florye. I have seen a number of oil paintings made from this photo, as this is a very popular photo of the Skillyput.

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Park, Mass., July 15—Supposing the principle of some form of the so-called guaranteed annual wage, or an extended form of unemployment compensation, spreads to a large number of companies, will most workers really benefit?

Many workers thing that somehow or other life can be made secure by legislation or labor union agreement. Higher wages, shorter hours, and unemployment benefits may temporarily raise their standard of living. Most of their victories, however, so increase their cost of living that the wage earner would have little more left at the end of the year were it not for the inventions of labor-saving devices.

CAPITAL (employers) and wage earners are like two tanks of water connected at the bottom by a pipe. The pipe represents the channels of trade. The water represents income. The Capital Tank is big and holds lots of water. The Labor Tank is smaller and holds less water. Because, however, both tanks stand at the same level, and because water always seeks its own level, the water in both tanks will reach the same level, no matter how much is poured into either tank. This applies to the so-called "guaranteed wage."

If a Labor Union "wins" a strike for a guaranteed wage, this is like pouring water into the little tank from the big tank. For only a moment does the labor union have the increase in its tank. The benefit soon flows back to the big tank by way of higher rents, higher prices, and greater interest rates. The "water" is constantly adjusting itself by means of the connecting pipe, which is Trade. So you see the proportion of the money union labor retains is not really an increase. There are only two ways to get healthy increases in wages. One is through producing more by working harder and longer. The other is through new inventions and products that cut costs and increase output. The greatest value of labor unions to the wageworkers is that the unions force capital to spend money on research, inventions, and advertising,—which reduces costs and increases production. A healthy economy is dependent upon good business, which is the operation of an enterprise profitably and efficiently.

TO DO THIS the employer must be free to buy his raw materials and labor only in the amount needed and at the lowest reasonable price. Long-term contracts should be entered only if they assure the most economical use of resources. In our private enterprise system, an employer benefits his wageworkers most when he minimizes his costs and maximizes his returns. We have real prosperity only when there are more jobs and more opportunities for more people.

To say that we shall stabilize our economy by a guaranteed annual wage, rather than by the operation of business efficiently and profitably, is to misunderstand what makes our private enterprise system work. It is hard-headed business sense and new inventions that have given us more refrigerators, more automobiles, and more homes. This is the kind of system which benefits wageworkers in the long run.

Rainy Weather In Most of Nation

(By The Associated Press)

It was rainy weather today over wide areas of the country after yesterday's thunderstorms and showers swept sections from the Gulf States northward to Minnesota.

One rain belt extended from southern lower Michigan southward across Indiana, western parts of Kentucky and Tennessee to central Mississippi. More than 1½ inches of rain fell in Greenwood, Miss., in six hours.

Scattered showers and thundershowers were reported in the central and southern plains and in the central plateau region, but falls generally were light.

Heaviest rainfall reported yesterday was 4.17 inches at Kentland, Ind.

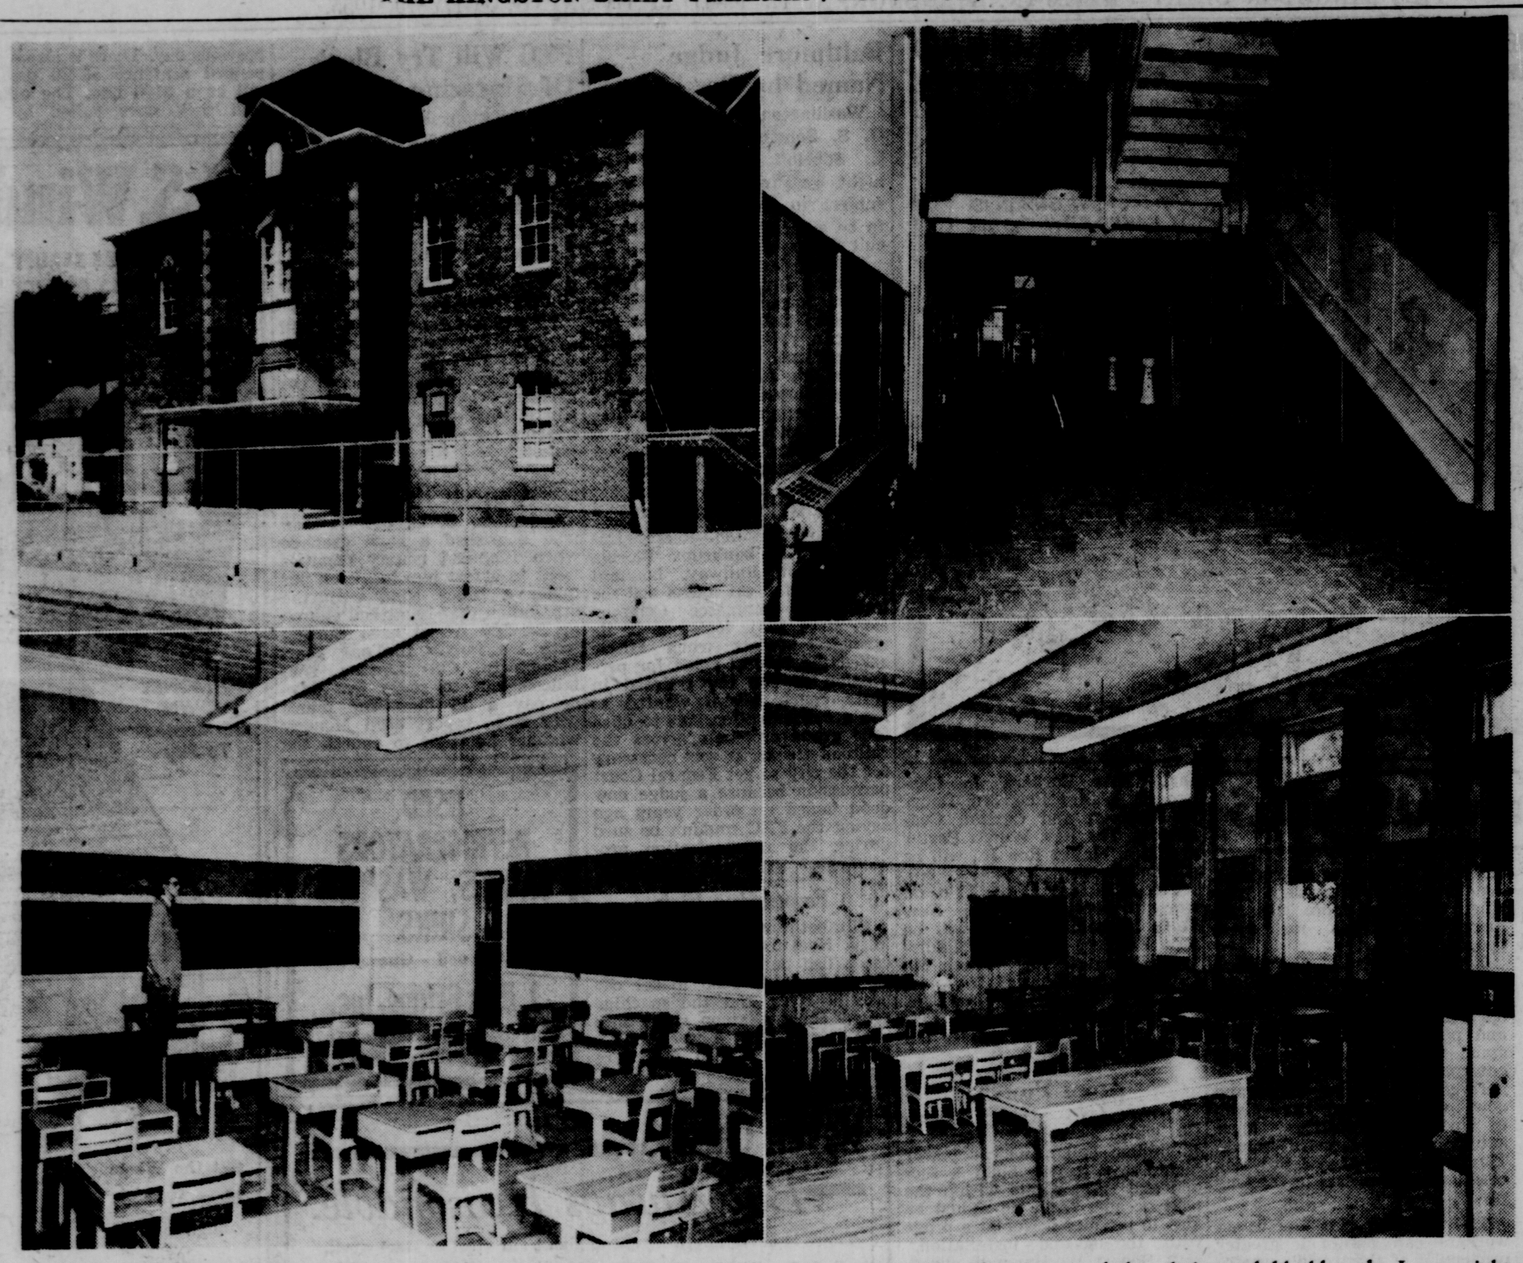

VIOLENT thunderstorms hit Austin, Tex., last night and caused underground transformer fires which threatened the Driskill Hotel and Scarborough Department Store. Firemen evacuated six downtown blocks while fighting flames and smoke in electrical conduit tunnels under the two landmark buildings in the Texas capital. No one was injured. Similar storms also struck North Fort Hood in central Texas and in Kilgore where lightning set 10 oil tanks afire, with some 30,000 barrels of oil burned. Two men were injured.

The Texas storms followed a heat wave of more than a week. The hot weather continued in most of the south and also in the eastern third of the nation. Temperatures generally were above seasonal levels in most sections, although it was a little cooler in the northern midwest.

THE 60s were general along the Pacific coast, the northern plains and northern New England. But the 70s predominated in most other states, with readings in the 80s and higher in the southwest desert region. It was around 100 during the night at Blythe, Calif., while Pendleton, Ore., reported 85.

Other reports: New York 74 and partly cloudy; Chicago 72 and partly cloudy; Boston 72 and clear; Atlanta 70 and clear; Miami 77 and clear; New Orleans 78 and partly cloudy; Fort Worth 81 and clear; Denver 70 and clear; Phoenix 91 and partly cloudy; San Francisco 60 and clear; Seattle 60 and clear; Bismarck, N. D., 63 and clear; Duluth, Minn., 66 and cloudy.

Lower California, or Baja California as it is called in Spanish, belongs to the Republic of Mexico.

Girls Prettier Today Beauty 'Experts' Say

Long Beach, Calif., July 15 (AP)—A poll of self-styled experts—all men—today called this year's Miss Universe crop the most beautiful yet.

Newsmen, officials, judges and others connected with the pageant since its inception in 1952 were unanimous that girls everywhere are prettier than ever.

One judge, in fact, said that none of the previous winners could even place this year, so tough is the competition.

Oscar Meinhardt, executive producer of the Miss Universe Pageant and before that for many years the head man of the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City, concurred.

Meinhardt, when asked by a reporter, said:

"I usually avoid these opinions, but I've got to say this is the greatest congregation of beauty I have ever seen at one time."

Real Horsepower

Beliflower, Ill. (AP)—Clifford Bradbury has for the past 40 years, handled 50 acres of corn, 25 of beans and 20 of oats with a team of horses instead of a tractor. Townspeople have joined him in his preference. They often call on him and his horse power for plowing vegetable gardens.

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

If there is one thing which has been drummed into our heads ever since the end of the depression of 1929-1932 (and of the lesser slump of 1938-1939), it is that major economic collapses can only be avoided by "controlling", or curbing, the booms.

Perhaps I should change tenses above, and say that the idea of curbing booms had been drummed into our heads, because you don't hear much about curbing booms anymore. About all you hear and read today is that the boom is good for another ten years.

For a writer who is as radical as I am, in favor of right-wing principles, and the free enterprise system, to now pick on Big Business may sound almost traitorous—but the Ruminator is aghast at some of the recent deals and plans formulated by the major industries.

Suppose I pick out the biggest to pick on in this particular piece of contrary criticism.

THE BIG ONE that is going to cause the boom to blow up in its face, is General Motors. At least that is the Ruminator's blunt contrary opinion.

First of all, General Motors aped the Ford deal and agreed to a union "package" that stacks up to a 20-cent-an-hour hike in labor costs.

This very neatly took care of the tens of thousands of workers in GM plants.

The dust had only settled on this mammoth pay-out and security measure, when announcements were made by GM that they intended to spend several hundred millions on increased plant installations looking toward increased production. As this announcement was readied for the propaganda mills, dealers of GM cars were sweating it out throughout the country, working desperately to unload the automobiles which were piling up in their showrooms and on railroad sidings.

Cut prices, long trades, cash discounts, bonuses, and what-all, have become common as dealers try to get out from under the greatest inventory of new cars ever recorded.

THIS REMINDS me acutely of a remark made to me a year ago by a shrewd and far-seeing General Motors dealer. Said he: "I expect to see, by this time next year, a frenzied automobile business—which will be wonderful for the country and for the workers, but just plain hell for us dealers."

That is what I call hitting the bull's eye, when it comes to forecasting.

So here the situation stood, a week ago, when General Motors made its electrifying announcement that its stock would be split three for one (three shares, three pieces of paper, to be handed stockholders for the one they now own: actually, no increase in value insofar as assets go, of course, but the idea of getting three shares for one always has had enormous "contagious" value).

Thus, a great imaginative value was handed stockholders—which was front-page news in all newspapers as GM common stock leaped forward 14 dollars per share overnight. Fourteen dollars were added to the price of the stock by the announcement, which of course made stockholders feel very rich indeed!

But it didn't make the dealers any happier, (except those who happened to own a fistful of GM certificates). To make the forgotten man of the automobile business even more envious (and somewhat sore, I gather), it was further announced that General Motors intended to work out an arrangement whereby the white-collar, salaried workers could buy some GM stock on especially attractive terms.

But I haven't seen any announcement that their dealers are going to be given a chance to buy stock on these terms, whereby the corporation chips in part of the purchase price and carries the employe until he pays off the balance out of his earnings.

That's the strange picture at the moment—but that ain't all!

TO RETURN to our opening remark about curbing booms to forestall collapses, it is my contrary opinion, that the General Motors' latest inoculation of the boom virus may very well, in the weeks to come, be looked back upon as the Big Blow which burst the bubble of the boom. At this juncture in economic affairs, when the speculative fever is spreading, when inflation may break out anew, and when the credit boom is getting out of hand, what was needed was a "quieting influence," not a spectacular and exciting melodrama appealing to the emotions. One might ask how booms can be "controlled" when America's most prominent corporation loses all sense of balance? It reminds one of the famous remark of history: "After me the deluge."

Rainy Weather In Most of Nation

(By The Associated Press)

It was rainy weather today over wide areas of the country after yesterday's thunderstorms and showers swept sections from the Gulf States northward to Minnesota.

One rain belt extended from southern lower Michigan southward across Indiana, western parts of Kentucky and Tennessee to central Mississippi. More than 1½ inches of rain fell in Greenwood, Miss., in six hours.

Scattered showers and thundershowers were reported in the central and southern plains and in the central plateau region, but falls generally were light.

Heaviest rainfall reported yesterday was 4.17 inches at Kentland, Ind.

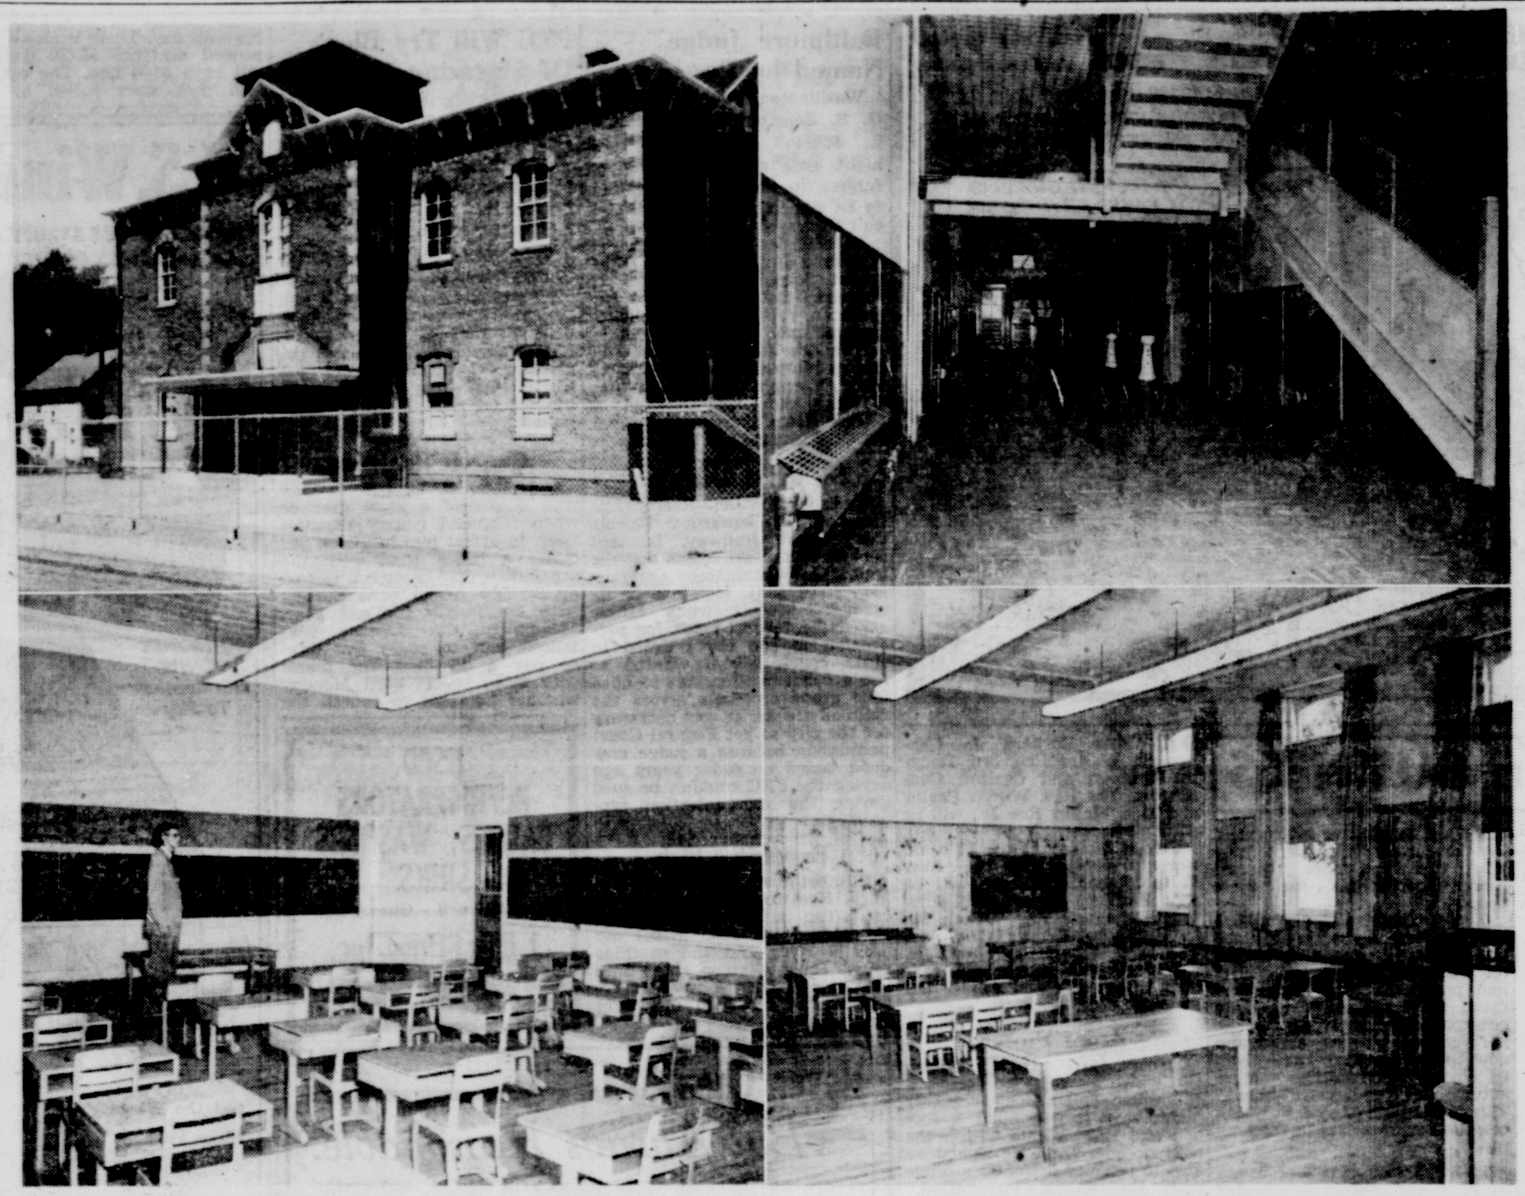

VIOLENT thunderstorms hit Austin, Tex., last night and caused underground transformer fires which threatened the Driskill Hotel and Scarborough Department Store. Firemen evacuated six downtown blocks while fighting flames and smoke in electrical conduit tunnels under the two landmark buildings in the Texas capital. No one was injured. Similar storms also struck North Fort Hood in central Texas and in Kilgore where lightning set 10 oil tanks afire, with some 30,000 barrels of oil burned. Two men were injured.

The Texas storms followed a heat wave of more than a week. The hot weather continued in most of the south and also in the eastern third of the nation. Temperatures generally were above seasonal levels in most sections, although it was a little cooler in the northern midwest.

THE 60s were general along the Pacific coast, the northern plains and northern New England. But the 70s predominated in most other states, with readings in the 80s and higher in the southwest desert region. It was around 100 during the night at Blythe, Calif., while Pendleton, Ore., reported 85.

Other reports: New York 74 and partly cloudy; Chicago 72 and partly cloudy; Boston 72 and clear; Atlanta 70 and clear; Miami 77 and clear; New Orleans 78 and partly cloudy; Fort Worth 81 and clear; Denver 70 and clear; Phoenix 91 and partly cloudy; San Francisco 60 and clear; Seattle 60 and clear; Bismarck, N. D., 63 and clear; Duluth, Minn., 66 and cloudy.

Lower California, or Baja California as it is called in Spanish, belongs to the Republic of Mexico.

Girls Prettier Today Beauty 'Experts' Say

Long Beach, Calif., July 15 (AP)—A poll of self-styled experts—all men—today called this year's Miss Universe crop the most beautiful yet.

Newsmen, officials, judges and others connected with the pageant since its inception in 1952 were unanimous that girls everywhere are prettier than ever.

One judge, in fact, said that none of the previous winners could even place this year, so tough is the competition.

Oscar Meinhardt, executive producer of the Miss Universe Pageant and before that for many years the head man of the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City, concurred.

Meinhardt, when asked by a reporter, said:

"I usually avoid these opinions, but I've got to say this is the greatest congregation of beauty I have ever seen at one time."

Real Horsepower

Beliflower, Ill. (AP)—Clifford Bradbury has for the past 40 years, handled 50 acres of corn, 25 of beans and 20 of oats with a team of horses instead of a tractor. Townspeople have joined him in his preference. They often call on him and his horse power for plowing vegetable gardens.

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

If there is one thing which has been drummed into our heads ever since the end of the depression of 1929-1932 (and of the lesser slump of 1938-1939), it is that major economic collapses can only be avoided by "controlling", or curbing, the booms.

Perhaps I should change tenses above, and say that the idea of curbing booms had been drummed into our heads, because you don't hear much about curbing booms anymore. About all you hear and read today is that the boom is good for another ten years.

For a writer who is as radical as I am, in favor of right-wing principles, and the free enterprise system, to now pick on Big Business may sound almost traitorous—but the Ruminator is aghast at some of the recent deals and plans formulated by the major industries.

Suppose I pick out the biggest to pick on in this particular piece of contrary criticism.

THE BIG ONE that is going to cause the boom to blow up in its face, is General Motors. At least that is the Ruminator's blunt contrary opinion.

First of all, General Motors aped the Ford deal and agreed to a union "package" that stacks up to a 20-cent-an-hour hike in labor costs.

This very neatly took care of the tens of thousands of workers in GM plants.

The dust had only settled on this mammoth pay-out and security measure, when announcements were made by GM that they intended to spend several hundred millions on increased plant installations looking toward increased production. As this announcement was readied for the propaganda mills, dealers of GM cars were sweating it out throughout the country, working desperately to unload the automobiles which were piling up in their showrooms and on railroad sidings.

Cut prices, long trades, cash discounts, bonuses, and what-all, have become common as dealers try to get out from under the greatest inventory of new cars ever recorded.

THIS REMINDS me acutely of a remark made to me a year ago by a shrewd and far-seeing General Motors dealer. Said he: "I expect to see, by this time next year, a frenzied automobile business—which will be wonderful for the country and for the workers, but just plain hell for us dealers."

That is what I call hitting the bull's eye, when it comes to forecasting.

So here the situation stood, a week ago, when General Motors made its electrifying announcement that its stock would be split three for one (three shares, three pieces of paper, to be handed stockholders for the one they now own: actually, no increase in value insofar as assets go, of course, but the idea of getting three shares for one always has had enormous "contagious" value).

Thus, a great imaginative value was handed stockholders—which was front-page news in all newspapers as GM common stock leaped forward 14 dollars per share overnight. Fourteen dollars were added to the price of the stock by the announcement, which of course made stockholders feel very rich indeed!

But it didn't make the dealers any happier, (except those who happened to own a fistful of GM certificates). To make the forgotten man of the automobile business even more envious (and somewhat sore, I gather), it was further announced that General Motors intended to work out an arrangement whereby the white-collar, salaried workers could buy some GM stock on especially attractive terms.

But I haven't seen any announcement that their dealers are going to be given a chance to buy stock on these terms, whereby the corporation chips in part of the purchase price and carries the employe until he pays off the balance out of his earnings.

That's the strange picture at the moment—but that ain't all!

TO RETURN to our opening remark about curbing booms to forestall collapses, it is my contrary opinion, that the General Motors' latest inoculation of the boom virus may very well, in the weeks to come, be looked back upon as the Big Blow which burst the bubble of the boom. At this juncture in economic affairs, when the speculative fever is spreading, when inflation may break out anew, and when the credit boom is getting out of hand, what was needed was a "quieting influence," not a spectacular and exciting melodrama appealing to the emotions. One might ask how booms can be "controlled" when America's most prominent corporation loses all sense of balance? It reminds one of the famous remark of history: "After me the deluge."

THE RECORD SHOP: If you think most record stars get famous overnight, consider Alan Dale. His big new hit, "Sweet and Gentle," is his 181st record and his current label, Coral, is the 13th record company he's worked for. That's over quite a few nights.

The record business is screwy. Ask anybody. Ask, for example, Mitch Miller. He'll tell you. But Mitch, the boss of Columbia records, will point out a few super-screwy aspects to the record business that many people don't realize.

"It is a very unbusinesslike business," says Mitch. "It is the only business I can think of where the big companies virtually support their competition from the little companies."

There are, today, dozens of small record companies. Some are doing pretty well, too. More records are being issued each week than ever before.

"It's easy to start a record company," Mitch says. "Just pick up the phone, call Columbia or one of the big companies, and ask to rent their studios. It costs $50 an hour, plus the cost of the tape. This includes the crack engineers we have. You get the same high quality sound we get.

"Then you call us up again, and hire the facilities of our custom record division. That's the manufacturing end. We'll press your records for you. Same material, same engineering as we use.

"'It's just as though General Motors would turn over its factory to somebody who wants to make cars. Can you imagine that happening?"

Mitch sat quietly for a moment, his beard quivering as he tried to imagine that happening. Then he thought of something even screwier.

"The record business is the only form of art," he says, "where people are rewarded for imitating. There are some artists who are currently quite popular, who've simply taken a record on a small label and copied it, note for note, and it's become a big hit.

"And everybody goes around telling them how wonderful they are, patting them on the back. It's the same thing as though General Motors would take a Hudson and copy it exactly. Can you imagine that happening?"

Mitch couldn't seem to imagine that happening, either. You must admit, it's a screwy business. Ask anybody.

Mitch Miller is quite excited about his latest discovery, a girl named Eileen Rodgers. She's just cut her first numbers for Columbia, and Mitche describes her voice like so: "It's a low voice, but there's fur on it."

She'll have to watch that in the hot weather.

By OSWALD JACOBY

The most important bid in today's hand wasn't really a bid at all; it was West's pass over four diamonds. West had already shown a very strong hand by making a free bid at the level of three on the first round of bidding. Obviously he could support either spades or hearts, or perhaps both. Hence his pass must have been based on a willingness to hear a penalty double if East had the hand for a double.

East was perfectly willing to double a high diamond contract since he had a singleton club and three diamonds. If West wanted to hear a double, East was able to make the right noise.

West opened the queen of spades, and East overtook with the king in order to return his singleton club. The play told its own story, so West returned the five of clubs after taking the ace of clubs.

East ruffed the club return and led a heart to his partner's ace. West propmtly led another club, and East ruffed again. The defenders eventually got another spade trick, and South won only his seven trumps. This left him down three, for a penalty of 800 points.

There's no great tragedy in going down 800 when your opponents have a laydown vulnerable game, but it certainly isn't a bargain. It was very foolish of South to bid four diamonds against opponentse who had shown game-going strength, since this bid offered them their choice between doubling for penalties and going on to their own game.

There are even some situations in which the opponents cannot quite make a game but can nevertheless take a bid like four diamonds to the cleaners. Unless your hand is exceptionally freakish,, or powerful enough to make game with a worthless dummy, it doesn't pay to keep bidding with a silent partner against two talkative opponents.

InvestigatorReprimanded

Houston, July 15 (AP)—Robert E. Schallert, accident investigator for the Houston police department, was given a three-day suspension yesterday. Police Chief Jack Heard explained that Schallert has been having too many accidents himself. He said the 35-year-old officer backed a patrol car into a picnic bench while on accident call, stripped the gears on another car, drove another to the station with a boiling radiator, and bent a fender on another. The fender-bending, said Heard, was not Schallert's fault.

New Jet Unveiled

Baltimore, July 15 (AP) — The SeaMaster, new four-jet naval plane, was unveiled in a test flight yesterday by the Glenn L. Martin Co. Martin spokesmen said security restrictions prevented the disclosure of details of the flight, which began at the mouth of Middle river in Chesapeake Bay and lasted two hours. When construction plans were announced several months ago, it was indicated the SeaMaster was designed to cruise faster than 600 miles an hour at 40,000 feet and carry an atomic bomb.

ITALY'S BEST—Italy's choice for the "Miss Universe" contest at Long Beach, Calif., is pretty Elena Fancera, 20-year-old blonde from Milan. She is shown after being named "Miss Italy" over nine brunette rivals at Asiago.

Sweet Revenge

St. Louis (AP)—Police thought there seemed to be an unusual number of tipsters in the case of seven illegally parked trucks. The mystery didn't last long. The trucks were part of a private fleet hired by the city to tow illegally parked autos off city streets. A ticket was placed on each one.

Sees Flaws in Law

New City, N. Y., July 15 (AP)—A State Supreme Court Justice holds that there are flaws in the law under which Minot F. (Mickey) Jelke was sentenced to prison on vice charges. Justice Robert Doscher refused yesterday, however, to grant the 25-year-old oleomargarine heir freedom in bail pending appeal. Jelke entered Sing Sing prison June 21 to begin a term of two to three years, imposed in New York city.

By DICK KLEINER

THE RECORD SHOP: If you think most record stars get famous overnight, consider Alan Dale. His big new hit, "Sweet and Gentle," is his 181st record and his current label, Coral, is the 13th record company he's worked for. That's over quite a few nights.

The record business is screwy. Ask anybody. Ask, for example, Mitch Miller. He'll tell you. But Mitch, the boss of Columbia records, will point out a few super-screwy aspects to the record business that many people don't realize.

"It is a very unbusinesslike business," says Mitch. "It is the only business I can think of where the big companies virtually support their competition from the little companies."

There are, today, dozens of small record companies. Some are doing pretty well, too. More records are being issued each week than ever before.

"It's easy to start a record company," Mitch says. "Just pick up the phone, call Columbia or one of the big companies, and ask to rent their studios. It costs $50 an hour, plus the cost of the tape. This includes the crack engineers we have. You get the same high quality sound we get.

"Then you call us up again, and hire the facilities of our custom record division. That's the manufacturing end. We'll press your records for you. Same material, same engineering as we use.

"'It's just as though General Motors would turn over its factory to somebody who wants to make cars. Can you imagine that happening?"

Mitch sat quietly for a moment, his beard quivering as he tried to imagine that happening. Then he thought of something even screwier.

"The record business is the only form of art," he says, "where people are rewarded for imitating. There are some artists who are currently quite popular, who've simply taken a record on a small label and copied it, note for note, and it's become a big hit.

"And everybody goes around telling them how wonderful they are, patting them on the back. It's the same thing as though General Motors would take a Hudson and copy it exactly. Can you imagine that happening?"

Mitch couldn't seem to imagine that happening, either. You must admit, it's a screwy business. Ask anybody.

Mitch Miller is quite excited about his latest discovery, a girl named Eileen Rodgers. She's just cut her first numbers for Columbia, and Mitche describes her voice like so: "It's a low voice, but there's fur on it."

She'll have to watch that in the hot weather.

The most important bid in today's hand wasn't really a bid at all; it was West's pass over four diamonds. West had already shown a very strong hand by making a free bid at the level of three on the first round of bidding. Obviously he could support either spades or hearts, or perhaps both. Hence his pass must have been based on a willingness to hear a penalty double if East had the hand for a double.

East was perfectly willing to double a high diamond contract since he had a singleton club and three diamonds. If West wanted to hear a double, East was able to make the right noise.

West opened the queen of spades, and East overtook with the king in order to return his singleton club. The play told its own story, so West returned the five of clubs after taking the ace of clubs.

East ruffed the club return and led a heart to his partner's ace. West propmtly led another club, and East ruffed again. The defenders eventually got another spade trick, and South won only his seven trumps. This left him down three, for a penalty of 800 points.

There's no great tragedy in going down 800 when your opponents have a laydown vulnerable game, but it certainly isn't a bargain. It was very foolish of South to bid four diamonds against opponentse who had shown game-going strength, since this bid offered them their choice between doubling for penalties and going on to their own game.

There are even some situations in which the opponents cannot quite make a game but can nevertheless take a bid like four diamonds to the cleaners. Unless your hand is exceptionally freakish, or powerful enough to make game with a worthless dummy, it doesn't pay to keep bidding with a silent partner against two talkative opponents.

InvestigatorReprimanded

Houston, July 15 (AP)—Robert E. Schallert, accident investigator for the Houston police department, was given a three-day suspension yesterday. Police Chief Jack Heard explained that Schallert has been having too many accidents himself. He said the 35-year-old officer backed a patrol car into a picnic bench while on accident call, stripped the gears on another car, drove another to the station with a boiling radiator, and bent a fender on another. The fender-bending, said Heard, was not Schallert's fault.

New Jet Unveiled

Baltimore, July 15 (AP) — The SeaMaster, new four-jet naval plane, was unveiled in a test flight yesterday by the Glenn L. Martin Co. Martin spokesmen said security restrictions prevented the disclosure of details of the flight, which began at the mouth of Middle river in Chesapeake Bay and lasted two hours. When construction plans were announced several months ago, it was indicated the SeaMaster was designed to cruise faster than 600 miles an hour at 40,000 feet and carry an atomic bomb.

Sweet Revenge

St. Louis (AP)—Police thought there seemed to be an unusual number of tipsters in the case of seven illegally parked trucks. The mystery didn't last long. The trucks were part of a private fleet hired by the city to tow illegally parked autos off city streets. A ticket was placed on each one.

Jelke entered Sing Sing prison June 21 to begin a term of two to three years, imposed in New York city.

Nuns Aid in Capture

Buffalo, N. Y., July 15 (AP)—Two sharp-eyed Catholic nuns have aided police to arrest a narcotics suspect and expose what police called a new method of distributing narcotics in this city. Police said the nuns, both from Batavia, spotted a man acting suspiciously in a bus terminal last night and watched him deposit a package in a locker. Police said Edward Smith, 31, was charged with illegal possession of narcotics. They said the package contained 75 capsules believed to contain heroin.

Boston Editor Dies

Marion, Mass., July 15 (AP)—William O. Taylor, 84, editor and publisher of the Boston Globe for 34 years, died early today at his home here. He was active in the operation of The Globe until only a few months ago. He was named editor and publisher in 1921 on the death of his father, Gen. Charles H. Taylor, builder of The Globe. Taylor was born into the newspaper profession and worked at it all his life.

Over 300 Billion in Incomes Is Spur to National Business Boom

New York, July 15 (AP)—Fatter pocketbooks of many Americans are feeding the business boom.

Personal income totals have crossed the 300 billion dollars a year mark for the first time in history.

That has helped retail sales to climb steadily. It has also given many families confidence enough in their future to hock part of their expected income and buy on the instalment plan. So consumer debt also has risen to a new high.

IN TURN, businessmen have stepped up their own buying of raw materials. They have increased their production schedules, thus adding to their payroll totals. They have raised their sights on future expansion. These three things swell the incomes of the producers of raw materials, of factory workers, of the construction industry and of the makers of tools and equipment.

It is an example of what economists mean when they talk about the present business boom running along for awhile on its own momentum, even if new stimuli don't show up.

SOME CYNICS say the boom on top of the boom is a little like families prospering by taking in each others washings—that the whole thing could grind to a jolting halt if consumers should stop buying so freely and starting saving instead.

But figures released this week point only to the signs of prosperity on every hand.

Department of Commerce data show that in the first five months of the year, personal income was running at an annual rate 10 billion dollars higher than the year before. In May it reached a record 301 billion, figured annually. The jump of 2 billion over the April rate was credited by the department to higher employment, longer work weeks, and higher hourly wage scales.

A LOT of the increase in incomes has flowed quickly into the hands of the merchants and the providers of various services—and from them it is working its way back to the prime producers.

But much of the additional cash has also gone into personal savings. The percentage of personal income saved isn't as high this year as in some previous ones, but the total sums put away in the various forms of personal nest eggs has gone on steadily climbing.

As one example, the U. S. Treasury announces that in the first half of this year it sold 13 per cent more E and H Savings Bonds, in dollar value, than a year ago. The cash value of these bonds now owned by Americans is nearly 39½ billion dollars.

ON THE spending side, in addition to the record sales by the makers of autos and some other big ticket items, reports this week on the sales of chain stores and mail order houses show them averaging around 8 per cent higher so far this year than last.

The gains have held right into the summer. Grocery store sales in recent weeks have averaged 7 per cent higher than last year. Apparel stores report June sales up over last year by 6 per cent for women's wear and 3 per cent for men's wear. One mail order house reports a 13 per cent gain in June over sales a year ago.

Thus has the consumer backed up the earlier confidence of the businessmen in ordering or making the goods. And thus is the consumer giving industry new confidence, which means keeping factory output high, employment high and material producers busy, and also means plans for future expansion.

Speed Blamed for Crash

Bridgeport, Conn., July 15 (AP)—The crash of a 17-car passenger train on the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad's "severest curve" yesterday was due to "excessive speed," a railroad official says. The electric-powered locomotive of the Washington-to-Boston Federal Express ripped off the rails just before dawn, plunged down a 35-foot embankment and crashed into a creeping switcher-engine below. Seven lead cars, most of the empty, leaped off the tracks and sprawled along the roadbed. The crash killed Engineer Arthur Orteneau, 60, of New Haven and injured 24 passengers and crewmen.

Babylonians and Egyptians produced beautiful and intricate needlework with crude fish-bone needles.

Six Die in Bombing At Casablanca

Casablanca, Morocco, July 15 (AP)—Indignation swept Casablanca's European colony today in the wake of a terrorist bombing which killed six persons and injured 35 others.

The blast last night wrecked two sidewalk cafes filled with persons celebrating Bastille Day, France's national holiday. As a result of the incident, latest in a series of Nationalist acts which have been terrorizing French North Africa, angry Europeans demonstrated in Casablanca's main square and set fire to five stores owned by Moroccan wholesalers.

One man was reported gunned to death and another wounded as the mob tried to break into the home of Jean Charles Legrand, prominent attorney sympathetic to the Nationalists.

Others milled in front of the newspaper Maroc Presse, whose owner, Jacques Lemaigre-Dubreuil, was assassinated last month after he had spoken against French counterviolence.

Witnesses said the death bomb was hidden in a covered cart wheeled to a nearby intersection by two Moroccans who fled.

More Women Work

Los Angeles, July 15 (AP)—Utopia may be coming, men, but there probably is no reason to quit work right away. Dr. Henry David, secretary of the National Manpower Council, says that if women continue to take jobs at their present rate, the day may come when men won't have to work at all. He told a regional conference on manpower yesterday that female employment has increased 125 per cent in the last 10 years. Man's employment has increased only 85 per cent. Last year, women held 20 million of the nation's 64 million jobs, said David.

Nuns Aid in Capture

Buffalo, N. Y., July 15 (AP)—Two sharp-eyed Catholic nuns have aided police to arrest a narcotics suspect and expose what police called a new method of distributing narcotics in this city. Police said the nuns, both from Batavia, spotted a man acting suspiciously in a bus terminal last night and watched him deposit a package in a locker. Police said Edward Smith, 31, was charged with illegal possession of narcotics. They said the package contained 75 capsules believed to contain heroin.

Boston Editor Dies

Marion, Mass., July 15 (AP)—William O. Taylor, 84, editor and publisher of the Boston Globe for 34 years, died early today at his home here. He was active in the operation of The Globe until only a few months ago. He was named editor and publisher in 1921 on the death of his father, Gen. Charles H. Taylor, builder of The Globe. Taylor was born into the newspaper profession and worked at it all his life.

Over 300 Billion in Incomes Is Spur to National Business Boom

New York, July 15 (AP)—Fatter pocketbooks of many Americans are feeding the business boom.

Personal income totals have crossed the 300 billion dollars a year mark for the first time in history.

That has helped retail sales to climb steadily. It has also given many families confidence enough in their future to hock part of their expected income and buy on the instalment plan. So consumer debt also has risen to a new high.

IN TURN, businessmen have stepped up their own buying of raw materials. They have increased their production schedules, thus adding to their payroll totals. They have raised their sights on future expansion. These three things swell the incomes of the producers of raw materials, of factory workers, of the construction industry and of the makers of tools and equipment.

It is an example of what economists mean when they talk about the present business boom running along for awhile on its own momentum, even if new stimuli don't show up.

SOME CYNICS say the boom on top of the boom is a little like families prospering by taking in each others washings—that the whole thing could grind to a jolting halt if consumers should stop buying so freely and starting saving instead.

But figures released this week point only to the signs of prosperity on every hand.

Department of Commerce data show that in the first five months of the year, personal income was running at an annual rate 10 billion dollars higher than the year before. In May it reached a record 301 billion, figured annually. The jump of 2 billion over the April rate was credited by the department to higher employment, longer work weeks, and higher hourly wage scales.

A LOT of the increase in incomes has flowed quickly into the hands of the merchants and the providers of various services—and from them it is working its way back to the prime producers.

But much of the additional cash has also gone into personal savings. The percentage of personal income saved isn't as high this year as in some previous ones, but the total sums put away in the various forms of personal nest eggs has gone on steadily climbing.

As one example, the U. S. Treasury announces that in the first half of this year it sold 13 per cent more E and H Savings Bonds, in dollar value, than a year ago. The cash value of these bonds now owned by Americans is nearly 39½ billion dollars.

ON THE spending side, in addition to the record sales by the makers of autos and some other big ticket items, reports this week on the sales of chain stores and mail order houses show them averaging around 8 per cent higher so far this year than last.

The gains have held right into the summer. Grocery store sales in recent weeks have averaged 7 per cent higher than last year. Apparel stores report June sales up over last year by 6 per cent for women's wear and 3 per cent for men's wear. One mail order house reports a 13 per cent gain in June over sales a year ago.

Thus has the consumer backed up the earlier confidence of the businessmen in ordering or making the goods. And thus is the consumer giving industry new confidence, which means keeping factory output high, employment high and material producers busy, and also means plans for future expansion.

Speed Blamed for Crash

Bridgeport, Conn., July 15 (AP)—The crash of a 17-car passenger train on the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad's "severest curve" yesterday was due to "excessive speed," a railroad official says. The electric-powered locomotive of the Washington-to-Boston Federal Express ripped off the rails just before dawn, plunged down a 35-foot embankment and crashed into a creeping switcher-engine below. Seven lead cars, most of the empty, leaped off the tracks and sprawled along the roadbed. The crash killed Engineer Arthur Orteneau, 60, of New Haven and injured 24 passengers and crewmen.

Babylonians and Egyptians produced beautiful and intricate needlework with crude fish-bone needles.

Six Die in Bombing At Casablanca

Casablanca, Morocco, July 15 (AP)—Indignation swept Casablanca's European colony today in the wake of a terrorist bombing which killed six persons and injured 35 others.

The blast last night wrecked two sidewalk cafes filled with persons celebrating Bastille Day, France's national holiday. As a result of the incident, latest in a series of Nationalist acts which have been terrorizing French North Africa, angry Europeans demonstrated in Casablanca's main square and set fire to five stores owned by Moroccan wholesalers.

One man was reported gunned to death and another wounded as the mob tried to break into the home of Jean Charles Legrand, prominent attorney sympathetic to the Nationalists.

Others milled in front of the newspaper Maroc Presse, whose owner, Jacques Lemaigre-Dubreuil, was assassinated last month after he had spoken against French counterviolence.

Witnesses said the death bomb was hidden in a covered cart wheeled to a nearby intersection by two Moroccans who fled.

More Women Work

Los Angeles, July 15 (AP)—Utopia may be coming, men, but there probably is no reason to quit work right away. Dr. Henry David, secretary of the National Manpower Council, says that if women continue to take jobs at their present rate, the day may come when men won't have to work at all. He told a regional conference on manpower yesterday that female employment has increased 125 per cent in the last 10 years. Man's employment has increased only 85 per cent. Last year, women held 20 million of the nation's 64 million jobs, said David.

Suit Jackets in All Lengths for Autumn In New Showings

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

New York, July 15 (AP)—Whether you like your suit jackets long, short or medium-fitted, semi-fitted or loose, you'll be able to suit yourself next fall.

Every conceivable jacket length, from the briefest boleros to ⅞ length tunics, will be in the shops next fall, as has been ascertained by members of the nation's fashion press currently winding up a week of New York fall fashion previews.

ADELE SIMPSON shows five different suit and costume silhouettes in her fall collection of smooth styles for sleek sophisticates. These range from a tiny curved bolero which cups the bust to a long tubular tunic coat reaching almost to the skirt hemline. In between are the 26-inch fitted jacket, the short boxy jacket and the straight, loose, fingertip-length little overcoat — all worn with either sheath dresses or slim skirts.

Whether her jackets are long or short, whether belts form a cuff around the hips or a band beneath the bustline, all of Adele Simpson's sheath dresses are carefully shaped, with slim, easy midriff and due allowance for natural bosom curves. Most of her skirt-and-jacket outfits have matching or coordinated overblouses, fitting smoothly around the hipline.

This pint-size but mighty designer likes high colors for fall, such as American beauty red and forest green, in addition to every shade of brown, from cafe au lait to black coffee. She espouses the long, lean look, though she herself is less than 5 feet tall. For dinner and cocktail wear she likes short sheaths of metallic brocades, and for more formal wear shows long, slinky, floor-length gowns in dazzling lames and brocades, often with matching fur-trimmed jackets.

Explaining that "there's a little hussy in every woman," Mollie Parnis presents the slow curve silhouette for fall, stressing double alliance costumes with jackets and sheath dresses with artfully alluring necklines.

MRS. EISENHOWER'S favorite dressmaker also recommends the Sunday school look for the new season, showing a group of well-bred little silk afternoon dresses with self-trimming, no sequins or jewels, and an air of conscious modesty. Her Sunday silks are a group of simple, full-skirted taffetas in charcoal, taupe and all shades of brown—these to supplant the ubiquitous little black dress.

Dramatically contrasting in mood is her shady lady cocktail sheath, or brown lace over beige satin, with a pleated bodice of suntan chiffon.

Maurice Rentner stars the principessa silhouette for fall. This is a slim sheath line shown mostly in coat dresses, with a wing-like low-placed flare in back. The dresses fit sheathlike to well below the hipline, with the flare jutting out unexpectedly back of the knees.

This designer also provides drama in a series of jewel-toned wool coats with collars, yokes and trimmings of Persian lamb dyed to match exactly—yellow, red or whatever.

A sensational evening gown called merry widow is of floating, wispy black chiffon, with a black ostrich border around its ankle-length hem and cobweb-like stole effect drapery that may be worn over the head for an effect of added mystery.

Betty Lou Johnson, Frank Ferracane Wed in New York

Saugerties, July 14 — Miss Betty Lou Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvah Linzey of West Camp was united in marriage to Frank Ferracane, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sebastian Ferracane of West Saugerties on Sunday, July 10 at 5 p. m.

The double ring ceremony was performed at St. Bernadette Church, New York city by the Rev. Dominick Cutrine, pastor.

For the occasion the sanctuary was decorated with white gladioli.

John Bolyn was soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Agnes Patillo, organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a ballerina length gown of tulle and taffeta over imported French lace. Her headpiece consisted of an imported French lace cap which supported a veil of French lace with orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis.

Sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. Betty Lo Verso of Brooklyn served as matron of honor and she wore a rose colored silk taffeta gown of lace applique on taffeta with pink accessories and she carried a bouquet of orchids.

The best man was Benny Pasuito of Brooklyn and the ushers included John Ferracane, brother of the bridegroom of West Saugerties and Nat Lo Verso, brother-in-law of the bridegroom of Brooklyn.

Niece of the bridegroom, Mary Rose Lo Versa who served as flower girl wore a rose silk taffeta gown with lace applique and a headpiece of pink and white roses. She carried a basket of pink and white roses and stephanotis.

Following the ceremony a reception for 100 guests was held at Mimi's Restaurant, Brooklyn where an orchestra supplied music for dancing. Cousin of the bridegroom, Salvador Profaci gave a special vocal solo as tribute to the newlyweds. The table decorations featured a three-tiered wedding cake.

For the wedding journey to Canada and upper New York state the bride chose for her traveling ensemble a pink gabardine suit with a white orchid corsage.

The bride, a graduate of Saugerties High School, attended New York State Teachers College and is employed with Simmons Dairy in Saugerties.

The bridegroom attended Brooklyn Automotive N. Y. Technical Institute. He served in the army as a sergeant in the ETO and is presently employed with Lloyd Lund Construction at Mt. Marion Park.

Upon return from the wedding journey the newlyweds will make their home in West Camp.

Retires to School

Ottawa, Ill. (AP)—School days and retirement days will become one when Miss Florence Brown, who has taught school for about 25 years, lives in a rural school building when she retires. She purchased one for $2,300 and plans to remodel it into a home.

National Magazine Publishes Poem by Academy Graduate

MISS MARIE O'REILLY

A poem entitled, "Love," written by Miss Marie Therese O'Reilly of 55 West Chestnut street, was chosen for the "National Anthology of High School Poetry," it has been learned. Miss O'Reilly is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William O'Reilly.

An amateur poetess, Miss O'Reilly shares honors with Miss Alice Mary Ambrose in the selection of their poems for the national magazine. Both graduated from Academy of St. Ursula in June.

Miss O'Reilly's earlier poems have found their way to print in the school magazine. She was honored at graduation as the winner of the school prize of $5, and the county prize of $10, presented by the Catholic Daughters of America for the best poem. The "Anthology" awarded her poem, on a religious theme, special mention.

Spending her summer assisting in O'Reilly's, Broadway, she is planning to major in English at Marymount in Tarrytown in the fall. Her present plans are toward a degree as English teacher.

Costly Homecoming

New Delhi, India, July 15 (AP)—It was a costly homecoming for Prime Minister Nehru—and a profitable occasion for a pickpocket. Sources close to Nehru told the story today: Just before the plane bringing him home from his European tour landed Wednesday, the prime minister gave 175 rupees ($27) to a bodyguard to hold. In the crowd that swarmed around the plane, the money-holding bodyguard fell victim to a pickpocket.

MissLouise Jablonski, Joseph H. O'Rourke Wed at St. Mary's

In St. Mary's Church, Miss Louise Valerie Jablonski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Jablonski of 56 Hanratty street, was married to Joseph Hugh O'Rourke, son of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Rourke of 413 Hasbrouck avenue, Saturday at 11 a. m. Officiating at the double ring ceremony followed by a high nuptial Mass were Rev. George W. Moore, celebrant, Rev. Edward I. Farrelly, and the Rev. William B. Reynolds. A reception followed at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Accompanied by Ted Riccobono at the organ, a quartet sang the Mass of "Our Lady of Perpetual Help" by Syre, and Ave Maria by Gerum. The quartet was composed of Miss Barbara Bruck, Mrs. John Desco, Donald Hastings and Martin Kelly.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of hand clipped imported French Chantilly lace, fashioned with a fitted bodice, modified scalloped off the shoulder neckline, and short sleeves. The neckline and skirt featured appliques of lace medallions re-embroidered with iridescent paillettes and seed pearls, and the billowing skirt terminated in a circular chapel length train. She wore a headband of matching lace embroidered with seed pearls and iridescent paillettes to which was attached her fingertip veil of French illusion. She carried a cascade of white phaleonopsis orchids.

Mrs. Harry A. Henke of Purling was matron of honor for her sister. The bridesmaids were Miss Patricia Keefe, Miss Clare Egan and Miss Wilma Bulivant of this city.

The matron of honor wore a gown of delft blue nylon chiffon, Grecian style, with a molded and tucked bodice, attached fichu and floor length skirt. She wore a headband of stylized flowers studded with rhinestones and an afternoon veil. She carried a circular cartwheel bouquet of white delphinium with a blue delphinium center.

The bridesmaids wore gowns of white nylon chiffon, similar in style to the gown of the matron of honor, featuring fichus and drapery in Arcady blue. They wore headbands identical to that of the matron of honor, and carried cartwheel bouquets of blue delphiniums with white delphinium centers.

John M. O'Rourke of this city was his brother's best man. The ushers were Raymond Candido, Utica, John Prusack, Waldwick, N. J., Robert Egan, Nicholas Reis and George Magley all of this city. Assisting were John Gill, Frances Reid, Robert Netter, and Francis Jablonski, brother of the bride.

The bride is a magna cum laude of Kingston High School, and of Crane Institute of Music, Potsdam State Teachers College. She has been vocal music supervisor for the past three years at Onteora Central School.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Kingston High School, is an alumnus of Manhattan College, and matriculated for his master's degree at Siena College. He is a special agent with the FBI in Baltimore, Md.

Suit Jackets in All Lengths for Autumn In New Showings

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

New York, July 15 (AP)—Whether you like your suit jackets long, short or medium-fitted, semi-fitted or loose, you'll be able to suit yourself next fall.

Every conceivable jacket length, from the briefest boleros to ⅞ length tunics, will be in the shops next fall, as has been ascertained by members of the nation's fashion press currently winding up a week of New York fall fashion previews.

ADELE SIMPSON shows five different suit and costume silhouettes in her fall collection of smooth styles for sleek sophisticates. These range from a tiny curved bolero which cups the bust to a long tubular tunic coat reaching almost to the skirt hemline. In between are the 26-inch fitted jacket, the short boxy jacket and the straight, loose, fingertip-length little overcoat — all worn with either sheath dresses or slim skirts.

Whether her jackets are long or short, whether belts form a cuff around the hips or a band beneath the bustline, all of Adele Simpson's sheath dresses are carefully shaped, with slim, easy midriff and due allowance for natural bosom curves. Most of her skirt-and-jacket outfits have matching or coordinated overblouses, fitting smoothly around the hipline.

This pint-size but mighty designer likes high colors for fall, such as American beauty red and forest green, in addition to every shade of brown, from cafe au lait to black coffee. She espouses the long, lean look, though she herself is less than 5 feet tall. For dinner and cocktail wear she likes short sheaths of metallic brocades, and for more formal wear shows long, slinky, floor-length gowns in dazzling lames and brocades, often with matching fur-trimmed jackets.

Explaining that "there's a little hussy in every woman," Mollie Parnis presents the slow curve silhouette for fall, stressing double alliance costumes with jackets and sheath dresses with artfully alluring necklines.

MRS. EISENHOWER'S favorite dressmaker also recommends the Sunday school look for the new season, showing a group of well-bred little silk afternoon dresses with self-trimming, no sequins or jewels, and an air of conscious modesty. Her Sunday silks are a group of simple, full-skirted taffetas in charcoal, taupe and all shades of brown—these to supplant the ubiquitous little black dress.

Dramatically contrasting in mood is her shady lady cocktail sheath, or brown lace over beige satin, with a pleated bodice of suntan chiffon.

Maurice Rentner stars the principessa silhouette for fall. This is a slim sheath line shown mostly in coat dresses, with a wing-like low-placed flare in back. The dresses fit sheathlike to well below the hipline, with the flare jutting out unexpectedly back of the knees.

This designer also provides drama in a series of jewel-toned wool coats with collars, yokes and trimmings of Persian lamb dyed to match exactly—yellow, red or whatever.

A sensational evening gown called merry widow is of floating, wispy black chiffon, with a black ostrich border around its ankle-length hem and cobweb-like stole effect drapery that may be worn over the head for an effect of added mystery.

Betty Lou Johnson, Frank Ferracane Wed in New York

Saugerties, July 14 — Miss Betty Lou Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvah Linzey of West Camp was united in marriage to Frank Ferracane, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sebastian Ferracane of West Saugerties on Sunday, July 10 at 5 p. m.

The double ring ceremony was performed at St. Bernadette Church, New York city by the Rev. Dominick Cutrine, pastor.

For the occasion the sanctuary was decorated with white gladioli.

John Bolyn was soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Agnes Patillo, organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a ballerina length gown of tulle and taffeta over imported French lace. Her headpiece consisted of an imported French lace cap which supported a veil of French lace with orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis.

Sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. Betty Lo Verso of Brooklyn served as matron of honor and she wore a rose colored silk taffeta gown of lace applique on taffeta with pink accessories and she carried a bouquet of orchids.

The best man was Benny Pasuito of Brooklyn and the ushers included John Ferracane, brother of the bridegroom of West Saugerties and Nat Lo Verso, brother-in-law of the bridegroom of Brooklyn.

Niece of the bridegroom, Mary Rose Lo Versa who served as flower girl wore a rose silk taffeta gown with lace applique and a headpiece of pink and white roses. She carried a basket of pink and white roses and stephanotis.

Following the ceremony a reception for 100 guests was held at Mimi's Restaurant, Brooklyn where an orchestra supplied music for dancing. Cousin of the bridegroom, Salvador Profaci gave a special vocal solo as tribute to the newlyweds. The table decorations featured a three-tiered wedding cake.

For the wedding journey to Canada and upper New York state the bride chose for her traveling ensemble a pink gabardine suit with a white orchid corsage.

The bride, a graduate of Saugerties High School, attended New York State Teachers College and is employed with Simmons Dairy in Saugerties.

The bridegroom attended Brooklyn Automotive N. Y. Technical Institute. He served in the army as a sergeant in the ETO and is presently employed with Lloyd Lund Construction at Mt. Marion Park.

Upon return from the wedding journey the newlyweds will make their home in West Camp.

National Magazine Publishes Poem by Academy Graduate

MISS MARIE O'REILLY

A poem entitled, "Love," written by Miss Marie Therese O'Reilly of 55 West Chestnut street, was chosen for the "National Anthology of High School Poetry," it has been learned. Miss O'Reilly is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William O'Reilly.

An amateur poetess, Miss O'Reilly shares honors with Miss Alice Mary Ambrose in the selection of their poems for the national magazine. Both graduated from Academy of St. Ursula in June.

Miss O'Reilly's earlier poems have found their way to print in the school magazine. She was honored at graduation as the winner of the school prize of $5, and the county prize of $10, presented by the Catholic Daughters of America for the best poem. The "Anthology" awarded her poem, on a religious theme, special mention.

Spending her summer assisting in O'Reilly's, Broadway, she is planning to major in English at Marymount in Tarrytown in the fall. Her present plans are toward a degree as English teacher.

Costly Homecoming

New Delhi, India, July 15 (AP)—It was a costly homecoming for Prime Minister Nehru—and a profitable occasion for a pickpocket. Sources close to Nehru told the story today: Just before the plane bringing him home from his European tour landed Wednesday, the prime minister gave 175 rupees ($27) to a bodyguard to hold. In the crowd that swarmed around the plane, the money-holding bodyguard fell victim to a pickpocket.

MissLouiseJablonski, Joseph H. O'Rourke Wed at St. Mary's

In St. Mary's Church, Miss Louise Valerie Jablonski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Jablonski of 56 Hanratty street, was married to Joseph Hugh O'Rourke, son of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Rourke of 413 Hasbrouck avenue, Saturday at 11 a. m. Officiating at the double ring ceremony followed by a high nuptial Mass were Rev. George W. Moore, celebrant, Rev. Edward I. Farrelly, and the Rev. William B. Reynolds. A reception followed at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Accompanied by Ted Riccobono at the organ, a quartet sang the Mass of "Our Lady of Perpetual Help" by Syre, and Ave Maria by Gerum. The quartet was composed of Miss Barbara Bruck, Mrs. John Desco, Donald Hastings and Martin Kelly.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of hand clipped imported French Chantilly lace, fashioned with a fitted bodice, modified scalloped off the shoulder neckline, and short sleeves. The neckline and skirt featured appliques of lace medallions re-embroidered with iridescent paillettes and seed pearls, and the billowing skirt terminated in a circular chapel length train. She wore a headband of matching lace embroidered with seed pearls and iridescent paillettes to which was attached her fingertip veil of French illusion. She carried a cascade of white phaleonopsis orchids.

The matron of honor wore a gown of delft blue nylon chiffon, Grecian style, with a molded and tucked bodice, attached fichu and floor length skirt. She wore a headband of stylized flowers studded with rhinestones and an afternoon veil. She carried a circular cartwheel bouquet of white delphinium with a blue delphinium center.

The bridesmaids wore gowns of white nylon chiffon, similar in style to the gown of the matron of honor, featuring fichus and drapery in Arcady blue. They wore headbands identical to that of the matron of honor, and carried cartwheel bouquets of blue delphiniums with white delphinium centers.

John M. O'Rourke of this city was his brother's best man. The ushers were Raymond Candido, Utica, John Prusack, Waldwick, N. J., Robert Egan, Nicholas Reis and George Magley all of this city. Assisting were John Gill, Frances Reid, Robert Netter, and Francis Jablonski, brother of the bride.

Good Taste Today

By EMILY POST

(Author of Etiquette, Children Are People, etc.)

ENGRAVED INVITATIONS OR NOT?

A young divorcee writes: "I am planning to be married again soon to a man who has not been married before. In your book Etiquette you say that engraved wedding invitations for a divorcee are not in best taste. However, we plan to send out about one hundred invitations and writing them by hand would be quite a chore. Considering this fact, would it be too far outside the realms of good taste to have them printed? Also, are there any rules concerning the wedding cake and flowers for the church and reception?"

You misunderstood my book—the point is that a big second wedding is not in best taste, and engraved invitations suggest a big wedding. If you plan to send 100 invitations, by all means have them engraved. There are no rules concerning the wedding cake and flowers for the church and reception. You may have what you like. Before planning a church wedding you must, of course, ask your clergyman's permission.

"Engagement Finger"

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper to wear a ring set with diamonds and sapphires on the third finger of the left hand if it is not an engagement ring? I was told that only an engagement ring is worn on this finger. I would appreciate your opinion.

Answer: I have NEVER heard that this finger announced an engagement. I think a single ring worn by a woman, is worn on this finger 99 times out of 100!

Fork and Spoon

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me the correct place setting when only a fork and spoon are to be used? Is the fork placed at the left and the spoon at the right, or when there are only two implements, may they both be placed together on one side of the plate?

What gifts to send for each wedding anniversary and preparations for the celebration are included in leaflet E-7, "Wedding Anniversaries." Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

NEW DELTA MODEL

The furnished model of the new $9,000 "Delta" home, which was opened two weeks ago, has received tremendous acclaim. All Delta homes for delivery prior to October have been sold and there are only a few houses left of the "Dalton" model which, except for the floor plan, is very similar to the "Delta."

There will probably be another section of "Delta" and "Dalton" homes started later on, but that would be the last section of the development for November-December delivery.

Before planning a church wedding you must, of course, ask your clergyman's permission.

"Engagement Finger"

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper to wear a ring set with diamonds and sapphires on the third finger of the left hand if it is not an engagement ring? I was told that only an engagement ring is worn on this finger. I would appreciate your opinion.

Answer: I have NEVER heard that this finger announced an engagement. I think a single ring worn by a woman, is worn on this finger 99 times out of 100!

Fork and Spoon

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me the correct place setting when only a fork and spoon are to be used? Is the fork placed at the left and the spoon at the right, or when there are only two implements, may they both be placed together on one side of the plate?

What gifts to send for each wedding anniversary and preparations for the celebration are included in leaflet E-7, "Wedding Anniversaries." Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

The County Highway Department has now started the actual work on the new two-lane concrete bridge which will lead into Mt. Marion Park. The new approach is presently being filled in with rock.

CLAMBAKE

There will be a Clambake on Saturday afternoon, July 16, on the occasion of the dedication of the 23-acre Park. Assemblyman Kenneth Wilson, Town Supervisor, Peter Williams and members of the Town Board will be present.

All occupants of homes, as well as those who expect to move in in the near future have been invited.

WOODSTOCK LIBRARY FAIR

As one of the main prizes for the Woodstock Library Fair, which will be held on July 28, Mt. Marion Park has made available the downpayment of $450 on a Delta or Dalton home. If the winner should be unable to occupy the home, he will have an opportunity to sell his down payment winning for cash.

NEW DELTA MODEL

The furnished model of the new $9,000 "Delta" home, which was opened two weeks ago, has received tremendous acclaim. All Delta homes for delivery prior to October have been sold and there are only a few houses left of the "Dalton" model which, except for the floor plan, is very similar to the "Delta."

There will probably be another section of "Delta" and "Dalton" homes started later on, but that would be the last section of the development for November-December delivery.

Vols Defeat Elks, 3-1 For Fourth FYL Victory

SPORTS

By Charles J. Tiano
Sports Editor

The Small Fry baseball tournament to be sponsored in Kingston over the Labor Day weekend by the New York State Moose Lodge Association has been growing like Topsy since 1953.

It was in the spring of 1953 that the NYSMLA decided to scrap its statewide softball tournament in favor of baseball. And they chose the Little League age group.

Fred Klein of Seneca Falls Lodge No. 544, who is the state Small Fry chairman, said the switch was predicated on a desire to do something for the small fry.

The first tournament in Elmira attracted 11 teams. Last year the entry list jumped to 18, with Kingston and Ulster county participating for the first time. Klein predicts an entry of at least 25 teams for the Kingston tournament, necessitating the use of two or three local diamonds. The finals will be played at Dietz Stadium.

Besides the regular games, the Small Fry tournament has been embellished with extra awards for such things as base running, distance throwing, batting averages, pitching records and RBI.

The rules have been changed several times since the original tournament, with all changes designed to improve the setup. They have adhered to the Little League age limitations of 8 to 12. The National LL headquarters this spring issued a long range directive that would eventually restrict all-star games and post-season tournaments to 12-year-olds only.

Youngsters converging on Kingston should have a wonderful time. They will be quartered at the 156th Field Artillery field house and will be dined and entertained during their stay. The teams will be properly supervised and chaperoned but everybody should have a good time.

The rules briefly are that each team must be sponsored by a New York state Moose lodge in good standing. The age limit is 8 to 12, and to be eligible a boy must have been born on Aug. 1, 1942, or later. If a player's birthday falls before July 31, he is not eligible to play. All members of a team may be 12 years old, an ideal situation if any lodge is able to come up with an all-star collection of players of that desirable age.

Official 1955 Little League baseball rules and 1955 LL tournament rules will govern play. The only exception to LL rules is, Sunday games and doubleheaders are waived to complete the tournament in one weekend. All teams must be uniformed and deadline for entries is Monday, Aug. 15.

Joe Fabiano, general chairman of Kingston Lodge's Small Fry committee, and his group of workers are planning a lively weekend for the tournament. They plan a parade of the teams and other features. They will need a lot of volunteer help for umpiring, score keeping and other details but anticipate no trouble in that direction.

Meanwhile, the Moose Lodge's official program committee is soliciting ads and it is respectfully suggested that everyone cooperates to make this a baseball milestone for the city of Kingston.

Paul Klonowski pitched the Volunteer Firemen to a 3-1 victory over the Elks yesterday, the fourth straight triumph for the Fraternal Youth League leaders.

KLONOWSKI walked two and struck out nine to outduel Jerry Sampson who pitched a respectable five hitter for the losers. Sampson walked three and struck out the same number. He was untouchable after yielding three first inning tallies.

Jack Niles' homer to left field in the sixth deprived Klownoski of a shutout. The other Elks safeties went to Tom Cragan, Bob Pratt and Don Krusenski.

THE VOLS went to work quickly in their first turn at bat when Sampson got in trouble by plunking Don Krueger and Paul Celuch with stray pitches. Bob Short and Frank Janczek delivered singles.

The five Vols hits off Sampson went to five different players—Paul Celuch, Charlie Boice, Bob Short, Frank Janaczek and Jim Cullum.

Dan Van Wagenen Hurls Bats Wrens to 5th Win

The wrens made the most of a quintet of hits last night at Forsyth Park to preserve their lead in the Jaycee Little League.

Dan Van Wagenen's fifth-inning home run won the game over the Crows, 5-4.

The Crows and the Eagles played a 9-9 tie after seven innings Wednesday night. The game, halted by darkness, will be completed later in the year.

VAN WAGENEN, who pitched the victory for the Wrens, belted his round-tripper with one man aboard off Bill Costello. It was Van Wagenen's fourth homer in as many games.

The one-run margin was all Van Wagenen needed. He struck out five of the next six men he faced, bringing his total to 13 for the contest. Dan's strikeout sum for the three games he has worked is now 44.

The wrens got single runs in each of the first three innings, but the Crows erased this lead with four scores in the bottom of the third.

The Crows loaded the bases and Don Hughes cleared them with a double. Hughes completed the circuit when Bill Reis singled.

Tom Ryan's booming bat kept the Eagles in the game against the Crows.

RYAN DROVE IN seven runs on two doubles and a single. He singled for two of the Eagles' three in the third. His two-bagger with the bases loaded drove in three and tied the game in the sixth, forcing the tilt into overtime. In the seventh, with his team behind by two and the bases jammed again, Ryan singled to drive in a pair and knot the score.

A triple by Bill Reis with one man aboard, followed by Rodger Wells' single, had given the Crows the lead in the seventh.

Wells worked the first six innings for the Crows, striking out 11. Because of league rules limiting the number of frames a hurler may pitch in one game, he was relieved by Bill Winter.

Skip Aiello tossed the first six for the Eagles, fanning nine. Alan Tucker finished.

Rhinebeck Cards 2 Feature Races

Two feature races are scheduled again this week at Rhinebeck Speedway with more than 50 stock cars expected to compete in the Ford and non-Ford events tomorrow night.

The winner of the Ford feature will automatically qualify for the annual championship race, which will be staged at the track later this season.

Stretch Van Steenburgh, winner of last week's feature, will be on hand again. Other top pilots ready to compete include George Welsh, Bob Devine, Art Green, Charley Beers, Chuck and Lavergne Irving and "Wild Bill" Secor.

The non-Fords, or "fender benders" will feature drivers Pete Peterson, Bill Thorrien, Ollie Palmer, Dave Sleight, Hank Page, Ray Pectal, Charley Seaman and Roger Riley.

The first heat begins at 8:30 o'clock.

Poughkeepsie Golfer Bids For State Women's Laurels

Albany, N. Y., July 15 (AP)—The four top players were only two strokes apart today as the State Women's golf championship went into its final 18 holes at Schuyler Meadows Country Club.

The 81-81-162 posted by Margaret (Sis) Cramer of Amsterdam led the field after 36 holes of medal play over the 6,515-yard layout. The tiny 32-year-old office worker plays out of the Antlers Country Club.

Only a stroke behind were Naomi Venable of the Dutchess Golf and Country Club, Poughkeepsie, and Mrs. Allan A. Ryan of the Creek Club, Long Island.

MRS. RYAN, 1942 titlist who has been out of golf for 13 years because of injuries suffered in an automobile accident, shot 79 yesterday for the best round of the tournament and only three strokes off women's par 39-37.

Miss Venable had a second-day 80 after an opening 83.

The tournament chairman, Mrs. Henry J. Noerling of the Columbia Country Club at Hudson, improved on an 83 with an 81 for 164.

There was a four-stroke gap down to Mrs. James Mulroy of Beacon and Mrs. Ruth Torgerson of the Cherry Valley Country Club at Valley Stream, a five-time champion.

MRS. MULROY had 83-85-168. Mrs. Torgerson ran into tough luck on the 17th hole. Needing only two pars for a 78, she fell while making her second shot and took a seven for 85-83.

Bad luck also overtook Mrs. Philip Allen of Syracuse, the former Virginia Guilfoil. Only one over par after 14 holes, she hit a trap and soared to five for the 140-yard 15th.

She wound up with 80 for a 169 and a seventh-place tie with Mrs. James Thomas of Troy Country Club, who tacked an 83 atop a first-day 86.

Sixteen-year-old Linda Healey of Syracuse, playing in her fourth tournament, posted an 86 each day to win low net honors with her 14 handicap.

Injuries Force Brooks to Minors For Pitching Aid

Brooklyn, July 15 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers went into the minors for another pitcher today after learning that Carl Erskine will be out of action at least 10 days and that Johnny Podres again has injured his left shoulder.

The Dodgers declined to say who they plan to bring up, but said they probably would make a decision today.

Erskine, suffering from a sore right elbow, was ordered by his doctor yesterday to take a rest. Later club officials said they don't expect him back for at least 10 days.

PODRES LOOKED strong in the early innings against the St. Louis Cardinals last night, but he injured his shoulder pitching to catcher Ed Burbrink.

The injury-riddled National League leaders were further crippled when Duke Snider, the league's top man at batting in runs with 89, came down with what was described as summer flu. He didn't play last night and is expected to be out three or four days.

On the bright side was the return of Roy Campanella, who got two of the Dodgers' four hits off Randy Jackson. Jackie Robinson and Carl Furillo also returned to action.

Tuccio Magic Still Works

Westbury, July 15 (AP)—It's about time that someone investigated the golden touch of Pat Tuccio, who came to this country from Italy as a 12-year-old youngster and has been knocking them dead with a two-horse stable in the world's richest trotting stakes.

Gene Mac, a 7-year-old gelding purchased by Tuccio a year and a half ago for $14,000, romped off with the $35,000 Roosevelt Trot last night at Roosevelt Raceway.

The movie script couldn't duplicate the fantastic climax of the Tuccio fortunes, for it was the third straight victory in this famous trot for the Riverhead, N. Y., real estate man.

Katie Key, another bargain buy, won the Roosevelt mile and one half classic in 1953 and 1954, and was coupled with Gene Mac last night as an entry in the 12-horse field. Katie, who had a bad back earlier this year, managed to get home fifth this time.

Vols Defeat Elks, 3-1 For Fourth FYL Victory

SPORTS

By Charles J. Tiano

The Small Fry baseball tournament to be sponsored in Kingston over the Labor Day weekend by the New York State Moose Lodge Association has been growing like Topsy since 1953.

It was in the spring of 1953 that the NYSMLA decided to scrap its statewide softball tournament in favor of baseball. And they chose the Little League age group.

Fred Klein of Seneca Falls Lodge No. 544, who is the state Small Fry chairman, said the switch was predicated on a desire to do something for the small fry.

The first tournament in Elmira attracted 11 teams. Last year the entry list jumped to 18, with Kingston and Ulster county participating for the first time. Klein predicts an entry of at least 25 teams for the Kingston tournament, necessitating the use of two or three local diamonds. The finals will be played at Dietz Stadium.

Besides the regular games, the Small Fry tournament has been embellished with extra awards for such things as base running, distance throwing, batting averages, pitching records and RBI.

The rules have been changed several times since the original tournament, with all changes designed to improve the setup. They have adhered to the Little League age limitations of 8 to 12. The National LL headquarters this spring issued a long range directive that would eventually restrict all-star games and post-season tournaments to 12-year-olds only.

Youngsters converging on Kingston should have a wonderful time. They will be quartered at the 156th Field Artillery field house and will be dined and entertained during their stay. The teams will be properly supervised and chaperoned but everybody should have a good time.

The rules briefly are that each team must be sponsored by a New York state Moose lodge in good standing. The age limit is 8 to 12, and to be eligible a boy must have been born on Aug. 1, 1942, or later. If a player's birthday falls before July 31, he is not eligible to play. All members of a team may be 12 years old, an ideal situation if any lodge is able to come up with an all-star collection of players of that desirable age.

Official 1955 Little League baseball rules and 1955 LL tournament rules will govern play. The only exception to LL rules is, Sunday games and doubleheaders are waived to complete the tournament in one weekend. All teams must be uniformed and deadline for entries is Monday, Aug. 15.

Joe Fabiano, general chairman of Kingston Lodge's Small Fry committee, and his group of workers are planning a lively weekend for the tournament. They plan a parade of the teams and other features. They will need a lot of volunteer help for umpiring, score keeping and other details but anticipate no trouble in that direction.

Meanwhile, the Moose Lodge's official program committee is soliciting ads and it is respectfully suggested that everyone cooperates to make this a baseball milestone for the city of Kingston.

Paul Klonowski pitched the Volunteer Firemen to a 3-1 victory over the Elks yesterday, the fourth straight triumph for the Fraternal Youth League leaders.

KLONOWSKI walked two and struck out nine to outduel Jerry Sampson who pitched a respectable five hitter for the losers. Sampson walked three and struck out the same number. He was untouchable after yielding three first inning tallies.

Jack Niles' homer to left field in the sixth deprived Klownoski of a shutout. The other Elks safeties went to Tom Cragan, Bob Pratt and Don Krusenski.

THE VOLS went to work quickly in their first turn at bat when Sampson got in trouble by plunking Don Krueger and Paul Celuch with stray pitches. Bob Short and Frank Janczek delivered singles.

The five Vols hits off Sampson went to five different players—Paul Celuch, Charlie Boice, Bob Short, Frank Janaczek and Jim Cullum.

Bodin won last year's race by an arm length from Gil Kelder Jr. of Rosendale. Cameron Page of Port Ewen was third.

Dan Van Wagenen Hurls Bats Wrens to 5th Win

The wrens made the most of a quintet of hits last night at Forsyth Park to preserve their lead in the Jaycee Little League.

Dan Van Wagenen's fifth-inning home run won the game over the Crows, 5-4.

The Crows and the Eagles played a 9-9 tie after seven innings Wednesday night. The game, halted by darkness, will be completed later in the year.

VAN WAGENEN, who pitched the victory for the Wrens, belted his round-tripper with one man aboard off Bill Costello. It was Van Wagenen's fourth homer in as many games.

The one-run margin was all Van Wagenen needed. He struck out five of the next six men he faced, bringing his total to 13 for the contest. Dan's strikeout sum for the three games he has worked is now 44.

The wrens got single runs in each of the first three innings, but the Crows erased this lead with four scores in the bottom of the third.

The Crows loaded the bases and Don Hughes cleared them with a double. Hughes completed the circuit when Bill Reis singled.

Tom Ryan's booming bat kept the Eagles in the game against the Crows.

RYAN DROVE IN seven runs on two doubles and a single. He singled for two of the Eagles' three in the third. His two-bagger with the bases loaded drove in three and tied the game in the sixth, forcing the tilt into overtime. In the seventh, with his team behind by two and the bases jammed again, Ryan singled to drive in a pair and knot the score.

A triple by Bill Reis with one man aboard, followed by Rodger Wells' single, had given the Crows the lead in the seventh.

Wells worked the first six innings for the Crows, striking out 11. Because of league rules limiting the number of frames a hurler may pitch in one game, he was relieved by Bill Winter.

Skip Aiello tossed the first six for the Eagles, fanning nine. Alan Tucker finished.

Rhinebeck Cards 2 Feature Races

Two feature races are scheduled again this week at Rhinebeck Speedway with more than 50 stock cars expected to compete in the Ford and non-Ford events tomorrow night.

The winner of the Ford feature will automatically qualify for the annual championship race, which will be staged at the track later this season.

Stretch Van Steenburgh, winner of last week's feature, will be on hand again. Other top pilots ready to compete include George Welsh, Bob Devine, Art Green, Charley Beers, Chuck and Lavergne Irving and "Wild Bill" Secor.

The non-Fords, or "fender benders" will feature drivers Pete Peterson, Bill Thorrien, Ollie Palmer, Dave Sleight, Hank Page, Ray Pectal, Charley Seaman and Roger Riley.

The first heat begins at 8:30 o'clock.

Reading Takes Eastern Lead

(By The Associated Press)

Reading stood alone on the Eastern League summit today.

The first-place tie with Binghamton was broken yesterday as the Trips went down 5-4 before Johnstown, while Reading came through with a 6-4 victory at Albany.

Righthander Don Minnick of Reading was credited with his 14th win without a loss in the Albany game. At Binghamton, Johnstown exploded with four runs in the seventh, and dropped the Trips to second place.

The Williamsport Grays, not long ago in a three-way tie for first with Reading and Binghamton, dropped another full game behind as they were shaded 3-2 by the last-place Elmira Pioneers. Host Allentown beat the Schenectady Blue Jays 5-4.

Most of Reading's scoring came on outfielder Bob Johnson's bases-loaded home run. The Senators did all of their scoring in the seventh when they bunched five hits. Ernie Nichols took the loss for Albany.

Trotting World Expects New Record

Vernon, July 15 (AP)—Billy Direct's 17-year-old world record of 1:55 for the mile may be in jeopardy tonight when Adios Harry, Adios Boy and 10 other speedy racers hook up in the $26,000 American Pacing Derby at Vernon Downs.

Adios Harry, owned by J. Howard Lyons, became the fastest racing pacer of all time last Friday at Vernon when he won the Thomas P. Gaines Memorial in two heats. The first was clocked in 1:55 2/5, breaking the old mark of 1:57 4/5.

Billy Direct's time in 1938 at Lexington, Ky., with Vic Fleming driving, was in a time trial and is the fastest mile ever for a harness horse.

THE SCOREBOARD

By ED WILKS, The Associated Press

Larry Jackson, one of those "who he?" guys the St. Louis Cardinals unveiled in the first game of the exhibition season last spring, is still a mystery man for the Brooklyn Dodgers.

It was Jackson who worked the first three innings of the Florida game, teaming with Floyd Wooldridge, Barney Schultz and Herb Moford to shut out the New York Yankees. Hardly anyone ever had heard of the four pitchers 'til then.

Only Jackson has stuck all the way with the Cards and he's picked the Dodgers, of all people, to prove he belongs. The 24-year-old righthander had them playing dead again last night, winning 6-1 after shutting out the National League leaders for 8 1/3 innings.

It was Jackie Robinson's double and Carl Furillo's single that spoiled a second shutout for Jackson against the Brooks. He and Milwaukee's Bob Buhl are the only two pitchers to blank the Dodgers this season.

THE DEFEAT, Brooklyn's third straight and 11th in the last 20 games, pared the Dodgers' lead over Milwaukee to 10½ games. The second place Braves brushed off Philadelphia 7-1. New York's Giants edged up on the Chicago Cubs 3-2 and Cincinnati walloped Pittsburgh 19-1.

In the American, Cleveland pulled to within four games of New York by beating the Yanks 5-4 and third place Chicago moved to within a half-game of the Indians by sweeping a twi-nighter from Washington 13-4 and 5-2. Boston split with Detroit, losing 6-0, then winning 7-3. Baltimore swept its evening-night twinbill at Kansas City 10-7 and 6-4.

Stan Musial, the fellow who won the All-Star game, hit his 20th homer and Wally Moon smacked his 12th as the Cards pounded four Brook pitchers for 11 hits in support of Jackson's fifth victory.

Al Rosen and Larry Doby each hit homers for the Indians, with Rosen's blow touching off a two-run rally that won it in the eighth. All New York's runs were off Bob Lemon. Ray Narleski won in relief. Jim Konstanty, the Yanks' ace fireman, suffered his first defeat.

The White Sox took their 10th and 11th decisions from the Senators in 12 games. A seven-run fourth inning packed away the opener. And Dick Donovan won his 11th, his sixth straight, in the nightcap as the Sox slugged rookie Ted Abernathy to break a 2-2 tie in the eighth inning.

Successive seventh-inning home runs by Ted Williams and Jackie Jensen eased the Red Sox home in the second game at Detroit after rookie Frank Lary had six-hit Boston in the opener, retiring Williams four straight times.

MILWAUKEE STAYED on Brooklyn's trail as Buhl spaced five hits while fanning 12 Phils. Bobby Thomson and Hank Aaron homered. Andy Seminick's homer in the ninth spoiled the shutout.

The Giants drew to within a game of the third place Cubs, setting up their final two runs with stolen bases. Don Mueller homered for the first New York run off loser Bob Rush, who had allowed just one run in three previous decisions over the Giants this season. Jim King's two-run homer in the sixth was winner Ruben Gomez' only worry.

Everybody got in the Cincinnati hitting act to pound the Pirates. Johnny Temple had 5-for-7, including a bases-loaded triple, and Wally Post hit two homers. Jackie Collum, meanwhile, six-hit the Bucs for No. 8.

Two late-inning rallies pushed the Orioles to within a half-game of seventh place. Gus Triandos belted his second homer of the game with two on as Baltimore scored six runs in the seventh inning to win the opener. The Orioles clipped the A's for five runs in the eighth inning of the nightcap, with Davy Philley knocking a two-run homer, for their first doubleheader victory of the season.

Trotting World Expects New Record

Vernon, July 15 (AP)—Billy Direct's 17-year-old world record of 1:55 for the mile may be in jeopardy tonight when Adios Harry, Adios Boy and 10 other speedy racers hook up in the $26,000 American Pacing Derby at Vernon Downs.

Adios Harry, owned by J. Howard Lyons, became the fastest racing pacer of all time last Friday at Vernon when he won the Thomas P. Gaines Memorial in two heats. The first was clocked in 1:55 2/5, breaking the old mark of 1:57 4/5.

Billy Direct's time in 1938 at Lexington, Ky., with Vic Fleming driving, was in a time trial and is the fastest mile ever for a harness horse.

Larry Jackson, one of those "who he?" guys the St. Louis Cardinals unveiled in the first game of the exhibition season last spring, is still a mystery man for the Brooklyn Dodgers.

It was Jackson who worked the first three innings of the Florida game, teaming with Floyd Wooldridge, Barney Schultz and Herb Moford to shut out the New York Yankees. Hardly anyone ever had heard of the four pitchers 'til then.

Only Jackson has stuck all the way with the Cards and he's picked the Dodgers, of all people, to prove he belongs. The 24-year-old righthander had them playing dead again last night, winning 6-1 after shutting out the National League leaders for 8 1/3 innings.

It was Jackie Robinson's double and Carl Furillo's single that spoiled a second shutout for Jackson against the Brooks. He and Milwaukee's Bob Buhl are the only two pitchers to blank the Dodgers this season.

THE DEFEAT, Brooklyn's third straight and 11th in the last 20 games, pared the Dodgers' lead over Milwaukee to 10½ games. The second place Braves brushed off Philadelphia 7-1. New York's Giants edged up on the Chicago Cubs 3-2 and Cincinnati walloped Pittsburgh 19-1.

In the American, Cleveland pulled to within four games of New York by beating the Yanks 5-4 and third place Chicago moved to within a half-game of the Indians by sweeping a twi-nighter from Washington 13-4 and 5-2. Boston split with Detroit, losing 6-0, then winning 7-3. Baltimore swept its evening-night twinbill at Kansas City 10-7 and 6-4.

Stan Musial, the fellow who won the All-Star game, hit his 20th homer and Wally Moon smacked his 12th as the Cards pounded four Brook pitchers for 11 hits in support of Jackson's fifth victory.

Al Rosen and Larry Doby each hit homers for the Indians, with Rosen's blow touching off a two-run rally that won it in the eighth. All New York's runs were off Bob Lemon. Ray Narleski won in relief. Jim Konstanty, the Yanks' ace fireman, suffered his first defeat.

The White Sox took their 10th and 11th decisions from the Senators in 12 games. A seven-run fourth inning packed away the opener. And Dick Donovan won his 11th, his sixth straight, in the nightcap as the Sox slugged rookie Ted Abernathy to break a 2-2 tie in the eighth inning.

Successive seventh-inning home runs by Ted Williams and Jackie Jensen eased the Red Sox home in the second game at Detroit after rookie Frank Lary had six-hit Boston in the opener, retiring Williams four straight times.

MILWAUKEE STAYED on Brooklyn's trail as Buhl spaced five hits while fanning 12 Phils. Bobby Thomson and Hank Aaron homered. Andy Seminick's homer in the ninth spoiled the shutout.

The Giants drew to within a game of the third place Cubs, setting up their final two runs with stolen bases. Don Mueller homered for the first New York run off loser Bob Rush, who had allowed just one run in three previous decisions over the Giants this season. Jim King's two-run homer in the sixth was winner Ruben Gomez' only worry.

Everybody got in the Cincinnati hitting act to pound the Pirates. Johnny Temple had 5-for-7, including a bases-loaded triple, and Wally Post hit two homers. Jackie Collum, meanwhile, six-hit the Bucs for No. 8.

Two late-inning rallies pushed the Orioles to within a half-game of seventh place. Gus Triandos belted his second homer of the game with two on as Baltimore scored six runs in the seventh inning to win the opener. The Orioles clipped the A's for five runs in the eighth inning of the nightcap, with Davy Philley knocking a two-run homer, for their first doubleheader victory of the season.

NEW YORK—Ricco Hackney, 190, New York, outpointed Mickey Carter, 240, New York, 8.

RENO—Howard King, 186, Reno, outpointed Willie Bean, 209, Los Angeles, 10.

Middlecoff's 64 Paces First Round

Milwaukee, July 15 (AP)—Dr. Cary Middlecoff, riding the crest of great subpar golf, fired a brilliant 35-29-64 yesterday in the opening round of the $35,000 Milwaukee Open but earned a mere one-shot lead as the field shattered par 39 times.

Middlecoff's 64 tied the course record and his sizzling 29 on the back stretch set a new mark. There are 147 entrants in the meet, and in addition to the 39 who broke par 70, another 12 matched it.

Nashua Seeks 4th Winning High

Chicago, July 15 (AP)—Belair Stud's flashy Nashua can replace Native Dancer as the fourth leading money-winner of all time tomorrow with a victory in the $150,000 Arlington Classic.

The probable field for the mile test, in the past a graveyard for champions, has shrunk to six or seven challengers of Nashua.

Brookfield farm's Impromptu, who matched Arlington Park's seven furlongs record of 1:22 in a recent victory in the Warren Wright Memorial; Clifford Mooers' Traffic Judge, Mrs. Jan Burke's Dedicate; E. Gay Drake's Dogoon, C. F. Morriss' Munchausen and William M. Peavey's Jett Flame.

Another possible starter is Hasty House Farm's Summer Solstice, Irish-bred colt with two triumphs in four American starts.

Oxygen Eases Rest For Actress Suzan Ball

Hollywood, July 15 (AP)—Oxygen eased Suzan Ball's rest today as she awaited full diagnosis of the cancer which has again hospitalized her.

Sources close to the dark-eyed beauty said that the disease this time is attacking her lungs.

But authorities at City of Hope Medical Center in nearby Duarte said that she is still in the "diagnostic stage" and that studies won't be completed until early next week.

They said she is in serious but not critical condition and rested comfortably during the night. The hospital said that she is being given oxygen occasionally.

Her husband, actor Richard Long, whom she married a few months after her right leg was amputated, has been at her side almost constantly.

Mayor Says Memphis Will Help With Plant

Memphis, Tenn., July 15 (AP)—Mayor Frank Tobey says if Dixon-Yates still wants to build its power plant at West Memphis, Ark., "we will assist in every way we can."

Tobey's statement was in answer to James Hale, a West Memphis lawyer who said the only reason Memphis decided to build its own plant was to force cancellation of the Dixon-Yates contract.

City officials say they decided to build the plant because they felt the Tennessee Valley Authority would not be able to meet their future power needs.

$2,700 Payroll Taken

New York, July 15 (AP)—A lone gunman robbed a hotel employe of a $2,700 payroll in the heart of midtown Manhattan this morning. Benjamin Becker of (36 Oak Lane) Glen Cove, N. As he entered the hotel's side entrance on 44th street, he said, a man pushed a gun in his back, grabbed the payroll envelope and fled.

Las Vegas, Nev., July 15 (AP)—A four-day search for 13-year-old John Cooley ended at a sun-scorched body, a .22 caliber rifle, and three small notebook pages scrawled with the boy's bitter farewell. Sheriff W. E. Leypoldt said the boy apparently killed himself after he learned that Avery Cooley—whom he thought was his father — was really his stepfather. The air and ground search by more than 200 men ended yesterday beside a dirt road within sight of Las Vegas.

Bundestag Approves Call

Bonn, Germany, July 15 (AP)—The Bundestag approved today measures to call up the first 6,000 volunteers for the new West German armed forces this summer. In a three hour session the lower house: 1. Gave final approval to a bill setting up a civilian panel with veto rights to approve the appointment of all officers to the rank of colonel and above. 2. Approved in crucial second reading the "volunteer bill," which authorizes the Defense Ministry to enlist a maximum of 6,000 volunteer specialists to begin the task of setting up the armed forces.

Hit West Proposals

Moscow, July 15 (AP) — Soviet newspapers came out today with some harsh criticism of American and British proposals in advance of the Geneva Big Four summit conference. Pravda, the Communist party organ, called "tittle tattle" the views of Harold Stassen, newly appointed special assistant to President Eisenhower on disarmament. Pravda said Stassen had a "plan" for disarmament which was one of several American maneuvers to confuse the summit meeting.

No women were allowed on the stage in the Elizabethan Age.
